MURPHY IS CHOSEN DETROIT'S MAYOR

Louisiana Senator Loses When New Orleans Gives Only 5,000 of Expected 25,000 Majority.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

A mounting pile of ballots in eight state primaries last night appeared to have eliminated from the senate two of its picturesque democratic figures, Cole L. Blease, of South Carolina, and Joseph E. Ransdell, of Louisiana. Senator James Couzens, republican, Michigan, was accumulating a sizeable lead for renomination.

Only a marked upset in the remaining votes to be counted in the South Carolina democratic primary, equivalent to election, appeared capable of saving Blease from defeat at the hands of former Representative James F. Byrnes. Senator Ransdell's defeat was conceded by strong supporters as Governor Huey P. Long's lead kept growing.

Senator Couzens' lead over former Governor Chase S. Osborn was substantial even before the senator's own stronghold of Detroit had reported.

In Colorado George H. Shaw, former chairman of the state republican committee, had the lead for republican senatorial nomination, and Edward P. Costigan, former tariff commission member, had a considerable margin in the three-cornered race for the democratic nomination to the same office.

Arizona's former governor, George W. L. Hunt, had a lead in the democratic gubernatorial primary over three competitors. South Carolina's gubernatorial race was a neck-and-neck affair right up to the finish between Ibra C. Blackwood and Olin P. Johnson.

Michigan's republican gubernatorial race showed Wilbur M. Brucker, attorney-general of the state, well ahead of two opponents. In New Hampshire former Governor John G. Winant was conceded victory by his nearest opponent for the republican gubernatorial nomination in three-cornered race. Results in Vermont and Washington appeared still indefinite on the face of the returns.

BLEASE IS LAGGING
BY 6,000 VOTES.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 9.—(AP)—On the face of unofficial returns, South Carolina democratic tonight appeared to have elected Senator Cole L. Blease, veteran political leader, to private life as a result of his run-off primary for the party's senatorial nomination.

With reports tabulated from all but 55 of 1,422 precincts, former Congressman James F. Byrnes, of Spartanburg, had a lead of nearly 6,000 votes over the incumbent. The vote stood: Byrnes 112,137; Blease 106,238.

The gubernatorial race between two Spartanburg attorneys developed in the closest political contest on record in South Carolina. With 1,375 precincts reported, Ibra C. Blackwood, solicitor, had 116,635 votes against 116,021 for Olin D. Johnson, strong opponent of the state's $65,000,000 highway program.

LONG HELPS BEAT
TWO CONGRESSMEN.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 9.—(AP)—With less than 200 precincts missing, Governor Huey P. Long held a lead of 22,192 over Senator Joseph E. Ransdell for the democratic nomination to the United States senate in today's primary election. Apparently the governor also carried along with him to victory the three candidates he supported for the United States house of representatives.

On the face of incomplete returns Representative J. Zach Spearling, who had represented the second congressional district, has come in with a lead over Paul Maloney by an overwhelming vote. Returns from 29 precincts out of 41 in the district, the vote stood: Maloney 6,591; Spearling 1,020; Rochester 341.

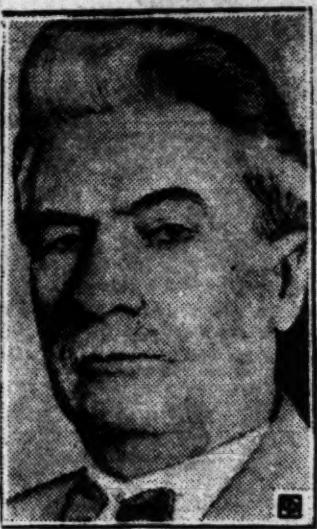

Maloney, a New Orleans business man, was supported by Governor Long while Spearling had the support of Senator Ransdell and the old regular democratic organization of New Orleans. Rochester ran with an independent organization.

In the first congressional district it was a closer race between Representative James O'Connor and J. O. Fernandez, state senator and member to Governor Long's faction, but it was

OFFICERS IN DOUBT ON NEGRO'S GUILT

Slain Darien Negro May Not Have Been Man Sought for Killing.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Considerable doubt still exists among law officers that William Henry Bryant, 24, credited with an alias of Fred Bryant, who was shot and fatally wounded in Darien today in connection with the slaying early Monday of Acting Chief of Police Bok Freeman, of Glynn county, is the Fred Bryant who accompanied George Grant when Freeman was killed.

Several negroes under arrest who have the same name of Fred Bryant have complicated the situation to such an extent that officers of the law who are familiar with the full situation do not believe that the real culprit has been caught. In consequence of this situation a hunt is still being made in Darien in an effort to capture the Fred Bryant described by George Grant before the latter was slain in his cell in the McIntosh county jail.

William Bryant was brought to Savannah today by national guardsmen, a detail from the 11th field artillery. He died at the Chatham county jail at 2:15 o'clock from gunshot wounds in the left chest, according to Coroner G. H. Johnson, of Chatham county, inflicted when he fled from a house on "The Ridge," a place about four miles from Darien. He had also bruises on his head and lip.

Two Fred Bryants, senior and junior, father and son, are now in jail here. Neither of these two is thought to be the man sought by McIntosh county officers. Neither fits the description of the hunted man.

Special Officer Ora Anderson, who was shot three times by the negro, said today that he failed to identify the Willie Bryant who died here today as one of the two men responsible for the death of Freeman. Anderson got a clear look at both as the moon was bright. He quickly identified George Grant, one of the men, when this negro was captured.

Chatham county police officers who went to Darien and returned here today said they could have arrested the Willie Bryant who died here today yesterday, but that he did not fit the description of the Fred Bryant being sought.

Chief McQuisig, of the McIntosh county police, in telephone conversation tonight, said he was of the opinion that the Willie Bryant who died here today is not the second desperado who had been sought. A number of others in Darien and McIntosh are of the same belief, he said, and are confident another man remains concealed in the swampy tracks found by the posse showed one man was without one shoe, as if the man had pulled it off his foot. The shoe was not found. George Grant, who was caught and later killed, had on both shoes when captured.

Kingsford-Smith May Quit Active Flying

LONDON, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The Daily Herald says Wing Commander Kingsford-Smith, Australian aviator who recently flew from Europe to the United States, has abandoned his plan for a homeward flight to Australia and may quit flying entirely.

The famous aviator was quoted as saying that three years of hard flying and his two recent operations had brought about a bad reaction, with the result that his physician had forbidden him to fly for some time.

"Unless my health recovers completely I may have to give up flying altogether," Kingsford-Smith is quoted as saying.

RELIEF REACHES SANTO DOMINGO

Arrival of Food, Medical Aid Cheers Stricken People.

SANTO DOMINGO, Sept. 9.—(AP)—For the first time since the hurricane struck this charming old city last Wednesday the morale of the people today showed marked improvement as great supplies of foodstuffs and medicines came from Cuba, Haiti, Porto Rico and the United States, along with great numbers of doctors, nurses and relief workers.

Definite knowledge that the outside world responded quickly and sympathetically to the needs of the storm-sufferers had a decided effect in turning the spirit of the Dominican capital from despair to hope.

President Rafael L. Trujillo expanded his already heroic efforts to ward sanitation with view to prevent this situation a hunt is still being made in Darien in an effort to capture the Fred Bryant described by George Grant before the latter was slain in his cell in the McIntosh county jail.

The value of his training as a general was shown in President Trujillo's organization of relief and his co-ordination of the efforts of all units working toward that end.

Units distributing food rations worked with great efficiency despite the fact more persons came to receive their share. The American Red Cross was assigned the city itself as its particular field of activity. It opened several rationing stations, and Director Ernest J. Swift estimated 10,000 persons now are receiving rations daily. At one time today the crowd at a Red Cross food station became so large and so unmanageable for the civilians that Dominican soldiers were compelled to drive the crowd back before order could be restored.

Imported food was fed to the thousands who had not only lost their homes and their loved ones but their source of income. The food supply was greatly augmented by trucks bringing provisions from other parts of the Dominican Republic.

Surgical attention for the injured was greatly facilitated today with the opening of the Roosevelt Emergency tent hospital which has 1,000 beds.

Commander L. W. Johnson, of the United States Navy, was placed in charge of all medical work in the city.

Gandhi Woman Disciple Causes 30 To Go to Jail

CALCUTTA, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Thirty women were arrested today for taking part in a procession in honor of "Mirabai," a British girl who forsake Christianity for "Swami" and became a disciple of Mahatma Gandhi.

Before her conversion she was Madeline Stude. She is the daughter of a British admiral. Mirabai arrived in Calcutta this afternoon and members of the congress party arranged the procession in her honor.

Police ordered the marchers to disperse, and placed them under arrest when they refused. The crowd stood after the disturbance, police raided one of the buildings attached to Calcutta University. Ten students, including the son of a high court judge, and 10 persons not connected with the university, were injured during the raid.

CAPTAIN DISBANDED CROWD TO SAVE SLAYING SUSPECT

Grover Fain Uses Nerve and Sense of Humor To Disperse Men Seeking Robert Glaze.

BY WILLIAM O. KEY, JR.

A nervy police captain with courage, a sense of humor and a gift of gab used all three Tuesday night to disperse an angry mob of several hundred men who gathered suddenly about the negro clinic of Grady hospital where Robert Glaze, negro held in connection with the fatal shooting Monday night of John B. McWhorter, street car operator, lay seriously wounded.

As the result of the smoothness with which Captain Grover C. Fain, under instructions of Chief of Police James L. Beavers, handled what was for a time a menacing situation, the crowd disbanded in an orderly manner and the suspect was quietly removed to Fulton county jail, where his alleged confederate in the robbery attempt, Willie Lee Cox, also wounded, likewise is being held.

Earlier in the night, according to police, Chief Beavers had instructed Captain Fain to keep an extra watch of reserves on duty, both at headquarters and at the hospital. Both watches were assigned by the night captain, the one at the hospital having instructions to notify headquarters in the event any untoward developments occurred.

Reserves Ordered Out.
Shortly after 8 o'clock Captain Fain received a telephone call from the hospital detachment. As a result he immediately telephoned Chief Beavers at the latter's home, ordered the reserves ordered out.

BOARD IS INDICTED IN FLOYD COUNTY

Entire County Board Included in True Bills Returned by Grand Jury.

ROME, Ga., Sept. 9.—(Special).—True bills charging malpractice to all five members of the Floyd county board of roads and revenues were returned here Tuesday by the Floyd county grand jury investigating the affairs of the county board.

The true bills contained numerous counts against each of the five men indicted, involving various charges of improper conduct of county affairs and alleged failure to comply with legal stipulations in regard to the drawing of county warrants, etc.

Several of the counts concerned the storage of county supplies at the warehouse of the O. N. Richardson Milling Company, which is headed by Chairman O. N. Richardson of the county board. The indictments charge that county supplies were stored here in such a manner that it was virtually impossible to distinguish between goods belonging to the county and those belonging to the milling company.

Other counts allege that various members of the board, in drawing warrants to cover expenses incurred on county business, did not properly account for the expenditures involved and did not comply with the proper legal stipulations for the drawing of such warrants.

The accused members of the board were represented by counsel at the session of the grand jury which returned the true bills.

The bill against O. N. Richardson, chairman of the board, contained eight counts; that against C. A. Todd, Sr., vice chairman, contained six counts; that against Homer Davis, nine; against J. P. Morris, seven, and against John F. Spruill, six.

Challenge to the poll of M. S. Langer, foreman of the grand jury, and to four members of a special committee of five grand jurors, who have been conducting the probe, A. A. Chapman, Lowell T. S. Sherry and J. C. McGinnis were filed, alleging that the five were prejudiced and therefore should not be allowed to sit as members of the grand jury investigating the board. The petition further alleged that the five named members of the grand jury had formed and expressed their opinion as to the guilt or innocence of the members of the board and were prejudiced.

Dean Owens, solicitor pro tem, filed a demurrer to the challenges and Judge James Maddox, of Floyd superior court, sitting at the hearing, sustained the demurrer. The challenges were brought by O. N. Richardson, C. A. Todd, Sr., and J. P. Morris. The other two members of the board made no challenge to the poll.

FULTON, DEKALB POLLS BECKON 38,000 VOTERS

Heavier Vote Than in Many Years Expected as "Dead Timber" Is Cut From Lists.

Fulton and DeKalb voters—38,000 strong—will trek to the polls today in the state primary to nominate a United States senator, a congressman, governor, statehouse officials, local representatives in the Georgia assembly and judges to the superior courts.

Fulton county list has been pruned until it contains only 29,509 names, the smallest number in many years, and DeKalb boasts a registration list of 8,500. Thus the grand total in the two counties who are entitled to vote in the 57 precincts is 38,000.

There are 22 polling places in the borough of Atlanta, 17 in the unincorporated areas of Fulton county, or outside the borough, and 18 in DeKalb.

The largest field to choose from in many years will be before the voters in today's primary, not only in Fulton county but throughout the state, and predictions in Fulton were that a larger percentage of the voters will visit the polls today than in many years, due to the fact that the "dead timber has been slashed from the registration lists."

Special attention has been called to the fact that the name of Ezra Phillips, who qualified as a candidate to succeed Miss Bessie Kempton, will be carried on the ballot, because they were printed before he withdrew. He was announced as a candidate for the office of state auditor, but he withdrew, however, in favor of William C. McRae, one of the other contenders, and no vote will be counted for him, it was announced. Others in that contest are Jesse B. Simmons and Johnny J. Jones.

Congressman Robert Ramspeck, who is just finishing the unexpired term of the late Congressman Leslie J. Steele, is opposed for renomination from the fifth Georgia district by Allen M. Pierce, local merchant. The five counties composing the district are Fulton, DeKalb, Campbell, Douglas and Rockdale, and all of these will vote on the congressman.

Virge John D. Humphries, of Fulton superior court, is opposed by Colonel James K. Jordan, prominent attorney. Judge Humphries is the son of a former governor of the state, and Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy and Virlyn B. Moore getting the nomination without opposition.

Bond Almond, George Eckford and Swift Tyler, Jr., are battling it out in a four-cornered fight, for the nomination to succeed Dr. George Brown, who did not re-elect.

M. G. Hicks, Don K. Johnston, Luther Stille and J. O. Wood are engaged in a four-way fight for the state senate seat in the fourth district. All of the candidates Tuesday night predicted victory and issued urgent appeals to voters to visit the polls today.

Fulton county polls will open at 7 o'clock in the morning and close at 7 o'clock tonight, while those of DeKalb will open at 6 o'clock this morning and close at 6 o'clock tonight.

A. C. Norman, E. L. Raegen and David J. Arnold, of Henry county, are engaged in a fight for the state senatorial post from the thirty-fifth district, composed of Fulton, Henry and Campbell counties, but under the rotation plan of electing only Henry county will vote on the aspirants. The nominee will succeed C. V. Whaley, of Jonesboro.

In the thirty-fourth district, including DeKalb, John Wesley Weekes, former representative from DeKalb, is unopposed, and DeKalb county will ballot on him as a formality.

The race for commissioner of roads and revenue in DeKalb has charged the political atmosphere there where four candidates have been engaged in a struggle for that position.

L. T. Y. Nash, incumbent, is opposed by James R. Venable, C. A. Matthews and W. H. Yarbrough. A meeting of Nash's friends was held Tuesday night at the DeKalb county courthouse.

Friends of Jordan gathered Tuesday night at the Lee Street school in furtherance of his campaign for the judgeship.

The other contests in DeKalb county include candidacy of six men for three legislative posts. Those in the races are: Dr. E. E. Clark and Henry

Miss Frances Porter Weds; Plans To Return to Stage

MRS. FRANCES PORTER HALL

Frances Porter, Atlanta beauty, who became a dancer on Broadway and won widespread recognition for her footlight proclivities on the great white way, is a bride.

News of her marriage to W. Douglas Hall, in a quiet ceremony during the week-end, was revealed in dispatches Tuesday night from New York, where the newly-wed couple is spending a rather secretive honeymoon. Mr. Hall, a well-known Atlanta advertiser, had known Miss Porter since her childhood, it was revealed, and their marriage is the result of a romance lasting over many years.

The newlyweds were accompanied to New York from Atlanta by Martin Amorous, Jr., well known as an interior decorator and patron of the arts, who also has known Miss Porter since childhood.

A unique flair was given the nuptials when it was discovered that the bride is not going to tell when or where, or give any details.

"Yes, we're married," Miss Porter hastily corroborated, and her husband nodded his confirmation. "I'm going back on the stage while my husband works here."

Miss Porter figured in a breach of promise suit some time ago as the result of a yachting trip in Cuban waters as the guest of Conkey Whitehead, millionaire Atlanta sportsman, whom she sued for $250,000. Service of the suit on Whitehead was never accomplished, however. Last January he married Miss Marion Hughes of New York.

Giant Bell Placed Atop Gotham Church

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The world's fourth largest bell, which weighs 20 tons as much as the Liberty Bell and can be heard five miles away, was electrically hoisted today on steel cables nearly an inch thick, 320 feet up into the belfry of the $4,000,000 Riverside church, now nearing completion on Riverside Drive opposite Grant's tomb.

John D. Rockefeller and his family will be among the leading parishioners when the church opens in October. The tower and carillon of the church are the gifts of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in memory of his mother, Laura Spelman Rockefeller.

Former Screen Star Gives Birth to Girl

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Heifetz today were receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter at the Lying-In hospital Monday. Mrs. Heifetz, before her marriage to the world-famous concert violinist, was Florence Vidor, star of the screen. She was married to Heifetz in 1928 after her divorce from King Vidor, film director.

LIMELIGHT HELD BY SPIRITED RACE FOR GOVERNORSHIP

State's Deliverance From Debt Is Major Issue as Five Bid for Executive's Chair.

CARSWELL'S PLAN IS BATTLEGROUND

Harris-Slaton Battle Vies With Gubernatorial Race. Vote of Less Than 200,000 Seen.

The final word spoken, the concluding statement issued, Georgia's political office-seekers stood by Tuesday night to await the verdict of the voters in the democratic primary today.

The fight was not given up without a struggle. Senator William J. Harris, running for renomination, and former Governor John M. Slaton, his opponent, last night shot their remaining darts over the radio, 15 minutes apart, and Richard B. Russell, Jr., one of the five candidates for governor, preceded them to the microphone by half an hour.

Of the other gubernatorial candidates, John N. Holder spoke at Savannah; E. D. Rivers, at Valdosta, and George H. Carswell, at Alamo. Only James A. Perry did not speak, he having concluded his campaign with a radio address Monday afternoon.

Race for Governor.
The gubernatorial contest, after having run for three months without arousing anywhere near normal interest, suddenly came into the political limelight about a month ago by the injection of plans by the various candidates for the rehabilitation of the state's finances.

The first candidate to advance a method whereby the state's back due appropriations could be met was George H. Carswell, secretary of state, who advocated the reallocation of automobile license tag revenue from the highway department to the payment of the state's debts, and who at the same time challenged his opponents to present plans which would be more practicable and feasible.

The other candidates met the challenge with plans of their own, and sharp criticism of the Carswell suggestion. The new issue so roused interest throughout the state that it finally overshadowed all other issues to such an extent that several of the candidates devoted most of their speech-making and card-writing to it.

As a result today's primary is practically a referendum on the Carswell plan, it being generally conceded that Carswell's nomination would be an endorsement of his plan by the voters. It is also understood that should Carswell be elected, he would carry out his plan.

Atlanta Cameraman Tells Of Santo Domingo Horrors

Obtaining the first motion pictures of the desolation left in the wake of Santo Domingo's recent hurricane, and scoring a scoop over all competitors, Charles D. Beeland, 26-year-old Atlanta cameraman, sent his negatives roaring into New York city by airplane at 9:03 o'clock Monday morning, a good 10 laps ahead of the field, according to Associated Press dispatches.

There never will be an accurate count of the dead left by the hurricane, Beeland said, on arriving in New York. "Faced with the fear of epidemic, convicts are burning the dead as fast as possible and there is no apparent effort at identification. If anyone does claim the body of a relative they are allowed to have a burial but the great majority, unclaimed and unidentified, are merely thrown on the great fires at the city's edge."

It was the light of these funeral pyres that guided the chartered plane in which Beeland succeeded in reaching the stricken city before regular passenger service was resumed. Arriving at dusk Saturday Beeland's plane made a safe landing on the Pan-American Airways field, which was strewn with wreckage, by the glare of these grisly flames.

Official confirmation of reports that numerous looters had been shot was obtained by Beeland who stated that survivors were permitted to dig in the ruins of their own homes for bodies of relatives but not elsewhere lest they should be mistaken for looters and summarily dealt with by the soldiers patrolling the street.

Until his departure Sunday, Beeland said, all efforts had been directed towards disposing of the dead and giving relief to the living. No signs of reconstruction were visible in the streets which had not been cleared: only here and there narrow paths had been shovelled out to permit the passage of wagons and trucks; unending processions bearing their gruesome loads for the funeral fires.

Beeland, who left Candler field Thursday afternoon, got his pictures Sunday in two hours' time, returning to Atlanta and thence to New York in time to speak over the Columbia broadcasting chain Tuesday night as a feature of the regular Paramount-Public hour. His pictures, obtained at great risk and in spite of enormous handicaps, will be distributed by the R. K. O. theater chain throughout the south, appearing for the first time in Atlanta this afternoon.

BLEASE, RANDELL GO DOWN IN DEFEAT

believed by observers on both sides that the total vote would show Fernandez the winner. With 38 precincts missing the vote stood, Fernandez 19,770; O'Connor, 19,817.

On the returns from 1,024 precincts, or about two-thirds of the total, Governor Long had a vote of 107,870 against Senator Ransdell's 88,522, giving the governor a majority of 19,348.

The governor was running 24,728 ahead of the senator in the parishes outside of New Orleans, returns from 790 precincts out of a total of 1,178 in the so-called country parishes standing, Long 72,271, Ransdell 47,543.

Senator Ransdell held a lead of 5,380 over Long in the city of New Orleans on returns from 254 precincts out of 245, the count standing, Ransdell 40,979, Long 35,599. This lead of Senator Ransdell was disappointing to his supporters who had predicted a majority of at least 20,000 for Senator Ransdell, which was calculated to overcome the governor's expected lead in the country districts.

On the face of incomplete returns, Representative Numa F. Montet had won re-nomination from the third district to the United States house of representatives over his opponent, Clarence J. Bourg.

With 13 precincts missing in the congressional district, the vote stood, Montet 13,274, Bourg, 7,339. Apparently Representative Montet will go on in the wave of Governor Long, who supported him for the funeral fires.

MURPHY VICTORY CONCEDED BY FOES

DETROIT, Sept. 9.—The Detroit News, which vigorously supported another candidate, tonight conceded the election of Frank Murphy, former recorder of the city, as mayor to fill the vacancy created by the recall of Mayor Charles Bowles.

With 741 precincts out of 832 reported Murphy had 90,420 and Bowles, who had held second position throughout the tabulation, had 81,002 votes. George Engel, backed by two newspapers which had criticized Bowles' administration and by the committee which managed the campaign to recall him, was third with 72,934 votes. Alex J. Smith, former mayor, trailed with 18,667. Phillip Raymond, a communist, polled 2,703.

With the returns from 600 precincts in the gubernatorial primary gave Wilbur M. Brucker 112,270; Alex J. Groesbeck 75,975 and Judge Edward J. Jeffries 12,671.

The Detroit majority election closed one of the bitterest campaigns in the history of the city and came after months of political excitement. Bowles won the majority last November after losing two races. The charges on which the recall campaign was based included toleration of lawlessness and attempting to build up a political machine among city employees.

The assassination of Jerry Buckley, radio political commentator and critic of Bowles, a few hours after he had announced the results of the recall election added to the excitement and is now the subject of grand jury investigation.

VERMONT VOTERS CHOOSE WILSON

MONTPELIER, Vt., Sept. 9.—(AP) Stanley C. Wilson, Vermont's lieutenant governor who sought the republican nomination in today's primaries, had forged far ahead of his two opponents when nearly half of the state's cities and towns had counted votes tonight.

With returns complete for governor from 110 cities and towns out of 248 in the state, in the republican primary, the vote stood:

Wilson, 8,432.
W. Arthur Simpson, 5,445.
John W. Gordon, 1,344.

In the contest in the first congressional district in which Governor John E. Weeks sought the republican party's nomination for congress, votes from 37 cities and towns out of 115 in the district gave:

Weeks, 2,811.
H. M. Drennan, 2,457.
Martin S. Vilas, 513.

Drennan, an avowed wet who had conducted a vigorous campaign, was giving Weeks, a dry, an unexpectedly hard fight. Vilas had declared for modification to obtain better enforcement of prohibition, while Drennan branded prohibition a failure. Weeks did no campaigning.

In the republican four-cornered contest for attorney general, the only other fight of major proportions, 74 towns and cities out of 248 gave:

H. A. Bailey, 2,243.
Lawrence C. Jones, 2,220.
Melvin G. Morse, 1,556.
Fred B. Thomas, 1,178.

SHAW IS LEADING FOR PHIPPS SEAT

PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 9.—(AP) George H. Shaw, former chairman of the Colorado republican committee, took the lead over William V. Hodges, former state chairman, in the four-cornered nomination for the senatorial nomination of their party in early returns from the state primary today.

Shaw, who is the republican nominee for the federal tariff commission, led by a considerable margin. His primary opponents were James A. Marsh, Denver lawyer, and Morrison Shafroth, son of a former United States senator from Colorado.

Returns from 128 precincts out of 1,582 in Colorado gave Shaw 8,052; Hodges 6,587.

Returns from 31 precincts gave Costigan 402; Shafroth 182; Marsh 124.

HUNT TAKES EARLY LEAD IN ARIZONA

PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 9.—(AP) Former Governor George W. P. Hunt took a lead of 833 votes over his nearest competitor in the four-cornered race for the democratic gubernatorial nomination with 27 complete and 38 incomplete precincts out of the state's 502 reported tonight.

The count was, Hunt 2,934; Frank H. Lyman, 2,102; Andrew Betty, 853; Fred T. Colver, 328.

STIFF CONTESTS IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

CONCORD, N. H., Sept. 9.—(AP) In a stiff fight for the New Hampshire republican gubernatorial nomination, in today's primary, former Governor John G. Winant held a slight lead over his chief opponent, Arthur P. Morrill. Returns from 202 towns and city wards out of 294 tonight gave: John G. Winant, Concord, 4,397; Arthur P. Morrill, Concord, 13,380; Dr. Hugh K. Moore, Berlin, 3,809.

With 202 districts tabulated, Frederick E. Small, former mayor of Rochester, led Albert W. Noone, of Peterboro, for the democratic gubernatorial nomination. The vote was, Small, 2,903; Noone 1,818.

Amos N. Blandin, of Bath, held a slight lead over Noone, who also campaigned for the democratic United States senatorial nomination. Blandin had 949 votes and Noone 909 when 71 districts had been tabulated. United States Senator Henry W. Sawyer, republican, was unopposed for re-nomination.

G. O. P. LEADS IN MAINE CUT

PORTLAND, Maine, Sept. 9.—(AP) Sharp cuts in republican majorities in Maine's biennial election over those of two and four years ago were variously interpreted by opposing party leaders today as an endorsement of the present national administration and an augury of democratic success in 1932.

The smallness of yesterday's vote made no change, however, in Maine's 100 per cent republican representation in congress and U. S. P. E. dominance in the state legislature, although the minority party gained 14 seats in the lower house.

Interest appeared greater in the governorship contest in which Governor William Tudor Gardner, republican, defeated Edward C. Moran, Jr., democrat, although the former's margin of victory was but 18,000 as compared with the 80,000 landslide he amassed against Moran two years ago. Nearly 17,000 ballots were cast in the gubernatorial race while some 3,000 less were polled in the United States senatorial contest from which Representative Wallace H. White, of Lewiston, emerged victorious over Frank H. Haskell, Portland, his democratic opponent by 30,000 majority. White will assume the seat to be vacated by Senator Arthur R. Gould, who did not seek re-nomination.

With but 35 precincts missing out of 632 in the state, the vote tonight stood:

Senator: White, 87,023; Haskell, 56,003.
Governor: Gardner, 82,216; Moran, 65,470.

The state's four congressional districts went strongly republican. Representatives: Carroll L. Beedy, Portland; John E. Nelson, Augusta, and Donald F. Snow, Bangor, were re-elected by 6,000 to 8,000-vote margins. In the second district Donald B. Partridge, republican, defeated Colonel Albert Bellevue, democrat, for the right to assume White's seat in the lower national house.

Failure of Governor Gardner to amass a margin paralleling that of White drew conflicting statements from party leaders. Gardner trailed White in many cities and towns and some times lost in precincts which the senator-elect carried.

"A republican primary contest distinguished only by the most unwarranted abuse ever heaped upon a governor resulted in a reduced margin for Mr. Gardner," Daniel F. Field, chairman of the republican state committee, said today.

WHAT DOES YOUR MIRROR SAY?

To MANY WOMEN the mounting birthdays bring a little less beauty, a few more wrinkles, a complexion that has lost its youth and charm. Yet for others, Time seems to stand still.

The difference is often a matter of diet. So many foods lack sufficient roughage or bulk. Without it, constipation is inevitable. Its poisons spread over the whole system, causing ill health and loss of youth.

Today, you can prevent it easily by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Two tablespoonsful of the original krumbled ALL-BRAN, or at least one of the crisp new Biscuits daily, are guaranteed to prevent and relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. In stubborn cases, eat with each meal. This is so much better than taking pills and drugs—often habit-forming.

Delightful with milk or cream, fruits or honey added. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also brings iron, which paints cheeks and lips with the natural tint of health. At all grocers—in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Baptist Convention Program Discussed by Executive Body

Reports Heard by Committee of 45 During All-Day Session in Atlanta.

Reading of reports and discussion of plans for the approaching session of the Georgia Baptist convention featured the meeting Tuesday of the executive committee of the convention, which gathered in an all-day session at the First Baptist church. The committee is composed of 45 prominent ministers and laymen from every section of the state, and the discussion centered largely around the coming Macon convention of the church. The executive committee, to which is committed all the work and affairs of the Georgia Baptist convention between annual sessions of the body, Tuesday heard reports from the Christian Index, official organ of the convention, the Georgia Baptist hospital, the schools and colleges owned and operated by the convention, including Mercer University, Macon; Shorter College, Rome; Bessie Tift College, Forsyth; Norman Junior College, Norman Park; and Brewton-Parker Institute, Mount Vernon. Of special importance was the report by James W. Merritt, executive secretary-treasurer of the committee, covering the financial receipts so far this year to the various missionary, benevolent, and educational causes fostered by Georgia Baptists in co-operation with other Baptists of the south. Mr. Merritt's report revealed that gifts of Georgia Baptists to the general causes of the denomination for the first eight months of the year were in excess of $200,000 and that the objective for the entire year is $600,000.

A committee was appointed to prepare and present to the approaching convention a budget for the year 1931.

The membership of the executive committee is as follows: J. R. Hall, Moultrie, president; H. P. Bell, Augusta; S. A. Cowan, Atlanta; J. D. Matheson, Royston; A. J. Johnson, Norcross; C. R. Mason, Madison; C. W. Moore, Junction City; Mrs. A. C. Gayle, Valdosta; T. H. Robertson, Gainesville; T. F. Calloway, Thomasville; A. B. Couch, Atlanta; Ed Jarman, Baxley; R. J. W. Graham, Hapeville; H. M. Melton, Arlington; J. P. Nichols, Griffin; Buxton Stephens, Rome; W. A. Tallaferra, Savannah; Mrs. Ben S. Thompson, Madison; Z. E. Barron, Macon; J. C. Brewton, Vidalia; Charles E. Burts, Macon; G. J. Davis, Atlanta; B. H. Hardy, Barnesville; J. L. Jackson, Atlanta; C. C. Kinsey, Cornelia; R. J. Minney, Ocala; Charles H. Schwall, Augusta; J. J. Bennett, Gray; M. D. Collins, Fairburn; L. R. Christie, Atlanta; C. D. Graves, Dublin; A. J. Moncrief, Decatur; O. M. Seigler, Americus; E. C. Sheridan, Augusta; H. H. Shirley, West Point; J. M. Teresi, Vienna; Carlton W. Binn, Atlanta; Mrs. B. B. Bunn, Atlanta; E. E. Dekle, Valdosta; W. A. Duncan, East Point; T. B. Gibson, Canton; W. E. Howard, Waynesboro; A. M. McCool, Hoboken; Mrs. W. J. Neel, Cartersville; Mrs. W. C. Tribble, Lavonia.

The officers of the convention are John E. White, Savannah, president; W. H. Faust, Atlanta; J. H. Greham, Smyrna; Roland O. Leavelle, Gainesville; Fred E. Smith, Augusta, vice presidents; B. D. Ragsdale, Macon, secretary; H. D. Warnock, Forsyth, assistant secretary; E. J. Forrester, Sparta, treasurer.

Secretary James W. Merritt left Tuesday night for Nashville, Tenn., where he goes to attend a meeting of the Southern Baptist State Secretaries on Wednesday and a meeting of the executive committee of the Southern Baptist convention on Thursday.

Commission To Fix Tax Rate Thursday

Fulton county's 1931 tax rate will be fixed at the meeting of the county commission probably on Thursday, it was announced Tuesday. The meeting was to have been held Tuesday, but was called off because of the absence from the city of several commissioners. The tax rate will probably be fixed at the same rate in effect for a number of years, $1.00 for county purposes, 10 cents for schools and 50 cents for the state, it was said.

ACCIDENT SHORTAGE DRAWS PREFERENCE

Complimentary Tickets to Capitol Offered by Constitution.

In almost anything but an accident, it might be said that a little one would be better than none at all. For instance a little automobile would be better than having no automobile at all. But a shortage of accidents would always get the preference.

With the sale of each travel and pedestrian accident insurance policy that The Atlanta Constitution has made available to its subscribers, complimentary tickets will be given to see "Little Accident," the feature picture playing at the Capitol theater this week.

In the leading roles of this Universal comedy-drama are two of the most popular of the younger stars, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Anita Page are in the leading roles. Among the other featured players are Slim Summerville, of "All Quiet on the Western Front"; Zaus Pitts and Sally Blane.

The policy offered by The Constitution to its subscribers provides for the payment of sums ranging downward from $10,000 in case of death resulting from certain accidents, heavy cash payments for permanent injuries, and from $10 to $20 weekly indemnity for disability resulting from specified accidents.

The cost of the policy is $1 a year, amounting to only a fraction of a cent a day or less than two cents a week. It is issued by the North American Accident Insurance Company of Chi-ago. Already the company has paid more than $100,000 in claims to Constitution policyholders.

Full details as to the provisions of the policy appear elsewhere in this issue of The Constitution, and a booth is maintained in the lobby of the Capitol theater where any information desired as to this policy may be obtained. Also full information may be had in the city circulation department of The Constitution.

Red Top Spins In Fulton Court, Receiver Named

The Red Top Nite Club, off to an auspicious start 10 days ago, Tuesday went upon the rocks of litigation when a deputy sheriff served Mrs. Mary Booth and Mrs. Sarah Donald, proprietors, with an order placing the club in the hands of W. F. Moore as receiver. The temporary receivership was allowed by Judge E. D. Thomas on the petition of ten employees of the club who alleged that they have not been paid their wages.

In a petition filed by Attorneys Joseph A. Morris and L. S. Bellinger, the plaintiffs allege defendants are indebted heavily to merchants, milk dealers and others to the extent further credit has been refused, and charge that the club is impossible of success as operated, for that the legitimate expenses, if paid, are too great for the income.

Judge Thomas granted a temporary restraining order to prevent the defendants from withdrawing from the banks any monies of the club, and set the case for September 13. The defendants alleged that they had been advised by the city clerk that no license had been issued to the club.

Holt Gewinner's Failure To Pay Back Tax Probed

Investigation of the recent earnings and income of Holt J. Gewinner, one of the organizers of the Black Shirts, was ordered by E. A. Chappell, federal probation officer, Tuesday after the latter had been notified by United States Attorney Clinton D. Smith that the defendant, Gewinner had not paid the court $1,075 of a $1,200 assessment he was ordered to pay when he pleaded guilty, in 1926, to a violation of the internal revenue laws.

Gewinner, who is under one year's suspended sentence on a charge of defrauding the revenue department out of several thousand dollars which he is said to have collected in taxes on paid admissions to boxing bouts, is understood to have asked for further time to get the balance of the $1,200 together. The original order for him to pay $100 a month was later modified by Judge Sibley to a monthly payment of $25, but in four years Gewinner has only made payments of $125, it was said.

Under the probation sentence, Gewinner was ordered to remain law abiding, and federal authorities are now inquiring into the facts upon which a warrant was recently sent here from Greenville, N. C., charging the Black Shirt leader with attempted fraud. Pending the arrival of extradition papers from North Carolina, Gewinner is free on bond.

Awtry & Lowndes Add 'Smart' Ambulance

Getting oneself smashed up is going to be a real pleasure in Atlanta from now on, provided one summons the new ambulance acquired Monday by Awtry & Lowndes Company. Designed like one of those smart town cars in which every consideration is taken for the comfort of passengers and none at all for the chauffeur, who has to sit out in the rain, the new conveyance is equipped with the most luxurious fixtures, not excluding a radio which, toned down by a special contrivance in the driver's compartment to a sybaritic softness, will be played only upon request of the patient.

The color scheme, a rich violet and maroon, is also calculated to soothe jumpy nerves and to evoke the proper mood of restfulness and repose, a mood which is helped along in an even more practical manner by the very last word in shock absorbers. Steel disk, chromi-plated wheels and two spotlights add dash and distinction to the exterior ensemble.

A complete hospital on wheels is the only way to describe an ambulance which contains, besides the regular equipment, hot and cold running water, a medicine cabinet, an electric fan, a heating system, a speaking tube for the patient, a clock, a linen rack, two flower vases and a baby basket. The interior of the patient's compartment is upholstered throughout in gray leather.

F. M. Robertson Heads Rescue Workers Board

Frank M. Robertson has been designated chairman of the newly created board of directors of the American Rescue Workers, Inc., 420 Piedmont avenue, as a result of orders from Philadelphia, national headquarters of the organization, it was announced Wednesday, and the following additional officers and members appointed: Horace V. Allen, vice president; Mrs. Carl F. Hutcheson, secretary; F. M. Brotherton, A. P. Calhoun, Mrs. H. L. Woodham, George Willet, C. S. Vittor, R. D. Sherrill, Robert H. Cone, Jr., S. N. Waters, Mrs. S. Thought Stimulation Seen in Law Meeting

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(P)—John W. Davis, former ambassador to Great Britain, today declared stimulation of American thought on international problems was an important result on the conference of the International Law Association. Mr. Davis addressed the closing session of the conference here today.

He told the delegates that "your very meeting here and the daily publication of your proceedings has helped again to remind the American people that they are members of the family of nations and that they have a keen concern in the development of international law."

The conference adopted a resolution, proposed by Austin E. Griffiths, former judge of the superior court of the state of Washington, expressing the admiration of the association for Aristide Briand and Frank B. Kellogg for the work that led to the Briand-Kellogg peace pact.

H. G. Callaway B. M. Gazaway Trial Leaves Winecoff For Macon Post

H. G. Callaway, assistant manager of the Winecoff hotel and known to thousands of travelers as "Cal," will leave today for Macon, where he will take over the management of the

H. G. CALLAWAY.

Terminal hotel, one of the most popular transient hostels in that city. Older in point of continuous active service, perhaps, than any other hotel executive in Atlanta, Mr. Callaway will terminate his 23 years of Atlanta hotel experience, in which profession he has served in virtually every capacity.

In 1907 Mr. Callaway became connected with the old Piedmont hotel, starting as information clerk. From that position he rose rapidly until he became assistant manager. In 1921 he transferred his activities to the Winecoff hotel, where he became chief clerk. As chief clerk of the Winecoff, his duties were centered chiefly in managerial departments and activities.

Few of the seasoned travelers failed to be greeted upon their arrival at the Winecoff by "Cal," as he intimately was known. He is known far and wide for his hospitality of manner and as an active member of the national organization of hotelmen known as the Greeters of America.

A native of McDonough, Ga., Mr. Callaway in June, 1914, married Miss Nora Lee Jones in Atlanta. He has an 11-year-old daughter, Frances, who is attending junior high school here. His family will join him in Macon October 1.

"Atlanta is the greatest hotel town in the south," Mr. Callaway declared on the eve of his departure for Macon. "In few towns in the entire country, in my opinion, will the hotel guest find the splendid hospitality and high quality of service that the Atlanta hotels have built up. They are well organized and have made hospitality an art."

Mr. Callaway will be succeeded by Jack Wright, of the Terminal hotel, as chief clerk.

Democrats To Name Ocmulgee Candidate

The sub-committee of the democratic state executive committee of Georgia will meet at 11 o'clock Thursday morning at the Hotel Ansley for the purpose of "taking such steps as may be necessary" to nominate a democratic candidate for solicitor-general of the Ocmulgee judicial district. Miles W. Lewis, of Greensboro, recently was named by Governor L. G. Hardman to succeed the late J. B. Duke, who held the office. Call for a meeting of the sub-committee was issued by G. Ed Maddox, state chairman, who explained that the time was too short for candidates to enter the primary being held today.

Prominent Canadian Killed in Plane Crash

FORT WILLIAM, Ontario, Sept. 9.—(AP)—James A. Dickey, secretary of the Flying Clubs Association of Canada, was killed today when his plane crashed about 10 miles north of Fort William. A woman passenger was seriously injured and was taken to a hospital here.

21-Year-Old Takes Last Ride in Chicago

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Peter Nicastro's body, with four bullets in the head, was dumped from a curbed motor car at South Canal street and Archer avenue early today. He was alive when picked up and he muttered something that sounded like "Al-Ai—" Then he said, quite distinctly, "Oh, nothing, nothing," and died.

The police supposition was that Nicastro, who was 21 years old, was taken for a "ride" because of his reputed attempts to "muscle in" on the territory of a West Side bootleg gang. He was not well known to officers, and so far as an early check-up revealed, he had no police record.

Brewer S. Eich Sent to Prison For Ten Years

Brewer S. Eich, formerly of Atlanta and brother of Ernest Eich, who is serving a sentence on the Georgia chancery for the killing of his young wife in a Washington street rooming house about a year ago, himself was sentenced to Alabama state prison for 10 years Tuesday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of assault with intent to murder his divorced wife in Anniston, Ala., July 1.

Eich's Cauey Eich, the divorced wife of Ernest Eich's older brother, was shot and seriously wounded by Brewer Eich last July as she sat on the porch of a neighbor in the Alabama city. The young woman recovered, however, and Eich's parents, who live in Atlanta, went to his aid as they had done in the case of his younger brother following the shooting of his wife here some time ago. By agreement of counsel representing Brewer Eich, it was said, a plea of guilty was entered and the judge of Calhoun county (Anniston) criminal court, imposed the 10-year sentence.

The slaying of the wife of Ernest Eich in Atlanta resulted in a similar sentence for the younger Eich youth. Mrs. Eich was shot and killed, the state charged during the trial here, after an altercation with her young husband, who, it was contended, attempted to kill himself after shooting his mate.

Ernest Eich contended that his wife shot herself and that he was wounded when he struggled with her for possession of the revolver.

ROBERT G. STEPHENS WINS HIGHER POST

Atlanta Trust Officer Given Vice Presidency of Huge Bank.

As a national recognition of his ability and activities in the fiduciary field of banking, Robert G. Stephens, vice president and trust officer of the Trust Company of Georgia, has been appointed a vice president of the Central Hanover Bank & Trust.

ROBERT G. STEPHENS.

Company of New York, one of the largest financial institutions in the United States, it was learned Tuesday upon his resignation from the local bank.

Mr. Stephens tendered his resignation to the board of directors of the Trust Company of Georgia Tuesday. It was accepted at once when the directors learned the source of the high honor accorded the trust officer, and will become effective some time between now and January 1, it was said.

Southwide Prominence.

Few men in southern banking circles have attained more widespread prominence in the trust phase of banking than has Mr. Stephens, and it was this reputation that drew the attention of the directors of the New York house to the young Atlanta banker. Well under 40 years of age, he has been chosen for an executive post on one of the nine most powerful banking institutions in the United States—a bank having deposits of more than three-quarters of a billion dollars.

Since becoming trust officer of the Trust Company of Georgia in 1924, Mr. Stephens has steadily advanced in the trust field until his name has become one of the most prominent of any individual in southern trust-banking circles. As trust officer of the Trust Company of Georgia, he is head of the trust department of that institution in the first National "group."

The position of vice president to which he has been appointed by the New York institution, is one of outstanding importance, and in all probability will give the young Atlanta banker an eminent opportunity to devote his capabilities to a large phase of the trust field in which he has become so prominently a part. The Central Hanover Bank & Trust Company is the outgrowth of a combination of the Central & Union Trust Companies and the Hanover National Bank of New York, and is one of the most important trust companies in the world.

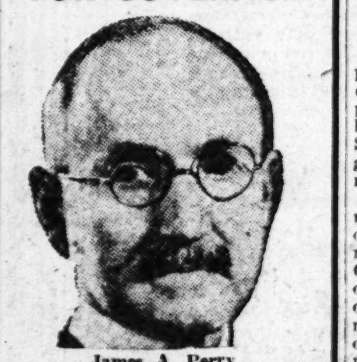

In addition to being widely known throughout the south in banking and trust circles, Mr. Stephens likewise is prominent in civic and social quarters in Atlanta. He is a member of the Rotary Club, treasurer of the Atlanta chapter, American Red Cross, and a director of the Community Chest of this city.

Native of Atlanta.

Mr. Stephens was born in Atlanta September 28, 1892, a son of James M. and Frances Bagby Stephens. He attended the local schools here and preparatory school in North Carolina, later matriculating and being graduated from the University of Virginia.

JAMES A. PERRY FOR GOVERNOR

The man who has done the most constructive work for the State of Georgia during the past twenty-five years. He has given us light and power under the same through-out the State where served by the same company; he has added four million dollars to the value of the state railroad property by the construction of the cold storage plant on that property, saying nothing of the six hundred thousand dollar passenger station on the same property in Atlanta; he has brought natural gas to Georgia that will result in a saving to the people of two million dollars per year; he has initiated orders that have reduced railroad freight rates forty-eight million dollars in the last eight years; he has reduced telephone rates in the sum of two million six hundred thousand dollars; he has reduced light and power rates three million five hundred thousand dollars.

He is courageous, fearless and safe. The only man that has offered a sane, constructive plan of recovering our state from the mire of politics into which Holder, Cawell, Russell and Rivers have submerged us.

In both academic and legal subjects. He married Miss Maner Montgomery of Rome, Ga., and has a four-year-old son, John Montgomery Stephens. During the war, Mr. Stephens served from May, 1917, through the armistice in field artillery divisions and in active combat duty as a member of the air corps. He held the rank of major.

Prior to his banking career, he practiced law, having been admitted to practice in all courts in Georgia, including the state supreme and the federal courts. THEFTS CONFESSED BY POSTAL EMPLOYEE

United States postoffice inspectors and secret service agents believed Tuesday they had solved the mystery of a long series of complaints about the systematic disappearance from the Atlanta postoffice of letters containing pension checks and money with the arrest and confession of William R. Starkey, negro, 186 Chapel street, S. W., an employee in the main office of Starkey, 30, admitted to F. C. Ellis, inspector, he had rifled the letter mail and stolen an envelope addressed to Albert Rogers, which contained a United States veterans' bureau warrant for $500. On this and other indictments preferred before United States Commissioner E. S. Griffith he was held for the grand jury under bail of $3,000, which had not been made late Tuesday.

The negro employee, a graduate of Tuskegee Institute, in Alabama, who received an annual salary of $1,600 for his services, was trapped by inspectors and secret service operatives early Tuesday morning after an extended investigation.

In a signed confession he admitted he stole the Rogers warrant—insisting that the fan belt the letter right at his feet where he was sweeping—and had it cashed at the bus station in the Terminal hotel after buying a ticket to Tuskegee and getting the difference, $550.38, in change.

Inspectors said that, in addition to three cases of forgery, theft of the mails and impersonation of another person, all violations of the federal code, a total of between 65 and 70 cases, growing out of complaints which have been registered for the last four months, would be filed against Starkey.

At Starkey's home operatives found letters from a woman out of Atlanta which indicated she has been receiving part of the money which he is charged with stealing. Whether she will also be indicted has not been determined.

GRIFFIN ROTARIANS VISIT ATLANTA CLUB

Exchange of good fellowship between citizens of the neighboring cities, Atlanta and Griffin, was extended Tuesday through the medium of the Rotary organization, when the local club acted as host to the Griffin Rotarians in the Capital City Club.

Judge L. P. Goodrich, well known Griffin attorney, delivered the principal address. The entire program was arranged by the Griffin club, and W. H. Beck, president of the visiting club, conducted the meeting. Factors that have been shared in common by the cities of Griffin and Atlanta, from their origin to the present day, formed the basis of Judge Goodrich's talk.

The Griffin attorney pointed out that his city and Terminus, which later became known as Mariettaville and then Atlanta, were established at about the same time, 90 years ago. Several years later they were incorporated by the same legislature within a period of a few days, he said. In both cases establishment and growth were due primarily to railroad development, Judge Goodrich recalled.

Mr. Goodrich is widely known in this section for his oratorical ability. He has been selected on several occasions to prepare historical accounts of his home town. Following his address here Tuesday, he was accorded a veritable ovation by the local and visiting Rotarians.

The entertainment program, which also received a warm welcome, was arranged by the Griffin club. It included Miss Mary Patterson, soprano; Miss Elizabeth Norman, violinist, and the popular Rotary quartet of Griffin.

The Griffin Rotarians drove to Atlanta Tuesday morning in a motorcade of about 15 cars, headed by President Beck. The party was met at Hapeville by a delegation from Atlanta, which served as an escort into the city.

Hearing on Athens Gas Rate Cut Slated

The Georgia Public Utilities Company, operating the gas plant in Athens, has been cited by the Georgia public service commission to appear before the latter body at 10 o'clock, September 19, and show cause why gas rates in Athens should not be revised.

Action of the commission followed receipt of a petition from a number of Athens gas consumers and also the recent order revising rates in Macon, Griffin and Rome. A large number of the consumers, according to the commission, have agreed to pay a monthly service charge of $1.25 because they "appreciated the fact that the service charge is a part of the rate and unless such an individual charge is provided in gas or electric rate service discriminations are sure to follow."

Credit Men To Open Fall Meeting Series

The Atlanta Association of Credit Men will hold its first fall meeting at 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening at the Garden Tea room, 10 1-2 Edgewood avenue, according to an announcement issued by E. H. Sneed, secretary. The principal speaker, William D. Thompson, local attorney, will talk on the subject, "Your City and You." Three-minute talks will be delivered by several members who were delegates to the convention of the National Association of Credit Men held recently at Dallas, Texas.

Vote!

In the interest of good government you should vote today.
In the interest of good government you should vote for that candidate whom you believe to be best qualified to represent Fulton County.

We hope you have investigated the character and ability of Bond Almand who is a candidate for the legislature. We know him and we commend him to the voters as a man well qualified by character, by training and by inherent ability to represent this great County as it should be represented in this most important branch of our government.

We quote from Bond Almand's final message which will be delivered over radio station WSB at 8:15 o'clock this morning:

"I ENTERED THIS RACE BECAUSE OTHER PEOPLE THOUGHT THAT I WAS FITTED TO SERVE. THROUGHOUT THIS CAMPAIGN I HAVE URGED YOU TO INVESTIGATE ME, MY LIFE, AND WHATEVER REPUTATION I HAVE FOR HONESTY, CHARACTER AND ABILITY, AND THEN IF YOU THOUGHT I WAS ABLE TO REPRESENT THIS COUNTY IN THE PROGRAM FACING THE STATE, I WOULD GO WITH AN OPEN MIND, PLEDGED ONLY TO RENDER AN IMPARTIAL SERVICE WITHIN THE LIMITS OF THE ABILITY THAT GOD HAS GIVEN ME."

Immigration Cut Planned To Combat Unemployment

President Announces Policy of Tightening Restrictions To Improve Labor Situation.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Further restrictions upon immigration to prevent increased unemployment will be imposed by the state department at the direction of President Hoover.

The chief executive announced today American consular officers in Europe will examine future applicants for immigration visas with a view to rejecting all who might become public charges and add volume to those already out of work in this country.

In adopting this course, Mr. Hoover said it would be similar to restrictions placed upon Mexican and Canadian immigration within the last 15 months.

The state department informed the president it had become apparent in March, 1929, that many seeking entrance from Mexico were laborers who ran a risk of becoming public charges, and, consequently, the restrictive policy was adopted. Labor immigration from that country has now practically ceased, the department added, and similar steps have brought a considerable falling off in Canadian immigration.

Mexican immigration had dropped in July to 324 persons. Last year 6,280 persons came from that country.

For the purpose of carrying the proposed system into effect, two conferences of consular officers are to be held in Europe soon, with Wilbur J. Carr, assistant secretary of state, in attendance. One will be held in London. The location of the other is to be determined.

Preferences granted by law to incoming relatives of citizens in this country are not to be disturbed under the plan.

In normal times it has been customary to grant visas to able bodied applicants if they meant to support themselves and those dependent upon them until their destination in the United States was reached. In abnormal times, such as at present, the department said, when no reasonable prospect exists that laborers or artisans could obtain work, he will be forced to convince the consular officer that he would not become a public charge.

Takes Poison.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Paul Kite, 23, member of a Washington, D. C., social register family, was discharged from a hospital today after having taken poison due to despondency over a love affair. Miss Nina Livingston, to whom he wrote a note, refused to comment.

FRENCH FLIERS AWAIT GOOD-WILL TOUR PLAN

Head of Curtiss Flying Service Shaping Itinerary.

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The French trans-Atlantic fliers, Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, returned today from Washington, where they were welcomed to America by President Hoover, as final arrangements were being made for their good-will tour around the country.

The itinerary is being made up by Casey Jones, president of the Curtiss Flying Service and a member of the committee sponsoring the tour. He said he hoped to be able to announce tomorrow all the cities where the fliers would stop.

The tour is expected to start by the early part of next week.

When the long flight begins, Rene Racover, the fliers' American business agent, who accompanied them to Dallas, to claim the $25,000 Eastwood prize, will step out of the picture, as the good-will tour is to be entirely without any commercial flavor.

On the way back from Washington today Coste circled low over the Newark (N. J.) airport and dropped flowers as a tribute to the memory of Major John A. Donaldson, American war ace and manager of the Jersey field, who was killed in a crash at Philadelphia on Sunday.

With the flowers was a note, written in French on an airport service slip reading: "To the memory of Major Donaldson, to his family and to his friends, our condolences."

The Frenchmen landed at Curtiss airport, in Valley Stream, on Long Island, and drove into town.

U. S. Workers Warned About Campaigning

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Federal employees working under civil service rules have been warned that any undue participation in election campaigning may mean the loss of their jobs.

The civil service commission said today warnings against political activity on the part of classified employees of the service were being posted in all federal buildings.

The political activities of unclassified employees and postmasters, the warnings say, are clearly limited and must not be extended unduly. Similar warnings have been issued in recent years.

M'CORMICK DEFENDS VOTE ON PROHIBITION

Illinois Woman Candidate Says Right of Petition Is Important.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Sept. 9.—(AP)—While disclaiming any part in the movement to place the prohibition referendum before Illinois voters next November, Mrs. Ruth McCormick, republican senatorial candidate, in a campaign address today declared that no citizen "has any right to oppose this poll."

The nominee said even the liquor problem was less important than "another issue which has been raised in Illinois the last few days," the right of people to petition the government.

"It seems strange," she said, "that here in Illinois in the year 1930, we should be called upon to debate the question of the right of our citizens to petition."

"Several thousand citizens have signed this petition for a referendum," she continued, proceeding under "their constitutional rights and under their rights specifically provided by the laws of this state," and as a result "certain leaders of the Anti-Saloon League of Illinois have taken the field and their first attacks is upon this legal petition now and ignore it later," but she said "I will listen to no counsel which outrages every conviction I have ever held on the subject of majority rule, of popular government and of the sanctity of the constitution."

Mrs. McCormick reaffirmed her statement in a speech before the republican state convention that "if a majority in Illinois expressed a desire on November 4 for a repeal of the eighteenth amendment" she would accept the result. At the same time she reiterated her statement that she was personally a dry and said "no intoxicating liquor is kept or served in my home."

Metropolitan Singer Divorces Husband

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Convinced it is very difficult for two musical artists to make a success of married life, Nanette Guildford, "baby soprano" of the Metropolitan Opera Company, has obtained a divorce from Max Rosen, violinist.

Roberto Huberman, attorney for Miss Guildford, said the decree was granted in Sorona, Mexico, on grounds of incompatibility and non-support. It was uncontested.

Miss Guildford, who began singing stellar roles at the age of 18, thereby earning the name "baby prima donna," announced her intention to seek a divorce last February when she said she was "convinced that it is very difficult for two musical artists to make a success of married life."

They were married on November 23, 1928. Describing Rosen's proposal and their marriage, she said: "Really, I think I am the first bride ever yawned into matrimony. We'd just finished luncheon, after our morning musical studies, and were walking on Seventh avenue. Max yawned as though he were bored to death. 'Ho, hum,' he said, 'what do you say to getting married this afternoon?'"

Miss Guildford consented and they went to city hall and were married.

5 Killed, Many Hurt In Locomotive Blast

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 9.—(AP)—At least five men were killed and a dozen injured today in the explosion of a pusher locomotive in the Reading railroad roundhouse yard at Third street and Erie avenue.

The dead: John Biemiller, roundhouse foreman. John Kelly, inspector. Frederick Spangler, engineer. Crawford Dunseath, car shopman. James P. Smith, car shopman.

The cause of the explosion was not immediately determined. I. A. Seiders, of Reading, Pa., superintendent of motive power and rolling equipment of the company, is making an investigation and Director Lemuel B. Schofield, of the department of public safety, also went to the scene to institute an inquiry.

They learned that the front of the locomotive boiler was blown off by the blast. The arched top of the firebox was blown down and out of the side. Nearly everybody in the shop was knocked down and pieces of the locomotive tore through the building. The casualty list was increased because several men were loitering near the locomotive and others were grouped for daily inspection duties.

Woman Withholds Rent 'Till Dog Is Respected

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The Sheridan-Brompton apartment hotel is very lenient on dogs, particularly on Buster, Mrs. Beatrice Smythe's high-class airedale.

Mrs. Smythe is being sued for $645 back rent. She takes the stand that she won't pay the rent until such a time as the hotel management ceases the practice of making the high-class airedale ride in the servant's elevator.

When she moved into the Sheridan-Brompton, Mrs. Smythe said, it was distinctly understood that Buster, being a ritzy creature, was to ride in the regular passenger elevators. Of late, however, the hostelry has altered its rules, barring Buster from going up and down in the lift with the paying guests.

Fear has been expressed that continued association with the hired help in the servants' elevator might develop in Buster an inferiority complex.

Settlement of the dispute is one of the things Judge Brothers has to worry about Thursday. In the interim, so far as the hotel is concerned, Buster can ride with the servants, walk up, or stay out altogether.

PHYSICAL THERAPY RESEARCH PLANNED

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 9.—(AP)—A plan for the formation of a research foundation today was under consideration by the American Congress of Physical Therapy, in session here. The proposal for the foundation was offered by Dr. John S. Hibben, of Pasadena, California.

The plan suggests the organization of a research council on physical therapy under the direction of the congress. It was said several St. Louis philanthropists had expressed a willingness to finance a research program over a five-year period.

Dr. Hibben proposed the research council conduct work into the activities of light, heat and electricity as agents in treating disease. The plan entails the appointment of fellowships in several leading universities, these honors to be bestowed upon graduates seeking higher degrees.

Approximately 1,000 physicians and surgeons are attending the congress. The final session will be held tomorrow night.

Seven Die in Crash Of Mexican Plane

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Seven persons were killed in a crash of the Sikorsky amphibian Mayab two miles from Merida, Yucatan, today. The plane burned after it fell.

Those killed instantly were the pilot, Captain Jorge Llerenas, of the Mexican army; Salvador Flores Cosio, Cosio's wife, sister-in-law and small daughter. Another pilot, Alonso Reyes Flores, and Emilio Cebada; died a short time later.

The meager details which reached here said that the plane suddenly went into a spin two miles from the Merida landing field. Flores and Cebada escaped cremation because they were thrown clear.

Captain Llerenas was one of three Mexicans who took the Mayab to Costa Rica last May to return the body of Colonel Pablo Sidar, Mexico's air hero killed in an attempt at a non-stop flight to Buenos Aires.

A Harmless Prescription, but How it Moves the bowels!

DON'T you want this way of making the bowels behave? A doctor's way to make the bowels move so well that you feel better, every day, the way they should. It's wonderful the way this prescription works, but it's perfectly harmless; so you can use it whenever a coated tongue or sick headache gives warning that you are bilious. Fine for children, too (it tastes so nice), and they ought to have a spoonful the minute they seem fretful, feverish, or sluggish, or become stuffed up with a cold.

You can get the original prescription Dr. Caldwell wrote so many years ago; your druggist keeps it all ready in big bottles. Just ask for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and use it any time anyone in the family is constipated.

Shouse Says Maine Vote Not Criterion of Opinion

Slim Republican Majority Not Indicative of Nation's Satisfaction With Regime, He Asserts.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(Special.)—Maine, long held up by republicans as a barometer of national political trends because of an oddity of its constitution setting its election date some six weeks in advance of the country at large, came in for its usual brief flight of advertising to-day by virtue of claims made that the republican national committee that the returns there yesterday indicate sufficiently the satisfaction of the country in the record of the present administration.

The claims were not allowed to go unchallenged, of course. They merely served to give the New England state its day "on front page" and precipitate one of those political arguments that come in every national election year.

No sooner had a statement been issued by Chairman Simeon Fess, of the republican national committee, seeking to interpret the Maine result as "a stinging rebuke to the democrats" and as "an endorsement of President Hoover" than Chairman J. Edgar Hoover, of the republican national committee, came forward with an effective explosion of the Maine myth. If the republicans can get any comfort out of the state of their candidate in the state by a margin of slightly more than 16,000 votes, in the face of previous claims of a minimum majority of 20,000 and compared with more substantial majorities in other years, then Chairman Shouse is willing to help them.

Such was the substance of his reply to Senator Fess.

Age Exploded.

As a matter of fact, the old adage of "how Maine goes the nation goes" has long since been exploded. The only thing is that democrats have to explode it all over again every two years. Only a political miracle, of course, could cause the state to break away from its traditional republican moorings. As Chairman Shouse points out, there is about as much chance of Georgia going republican. Only once since the Civil War—a period of 70 years—has it cast its electoral vote for a democratic presidential candidate. And that was in 1912 when Woodrow Wilson managed to receive a plurality due to the split in the republican ranks which Theodore Roosevelt precipitated with his independent candidacy. Wilson received 51,113 votes to 48,495 for Roosevelt and 26,545 for Taft. The combined vote of Roosevelt and Taft was more than enough to take the state's electoral vote from Wilson, and would have had either one of the republican candidates been out of the race.

Grover Cleveland lost Maine by 20,000 in 1884 and 18,900 in 1892; the two years in which he was elected, the latter year overwhelmingly. In 1888, when he received a popular plurality, though failing of election, he lost the state by 22,000. Wilson, when he defeated Charles Evans Hughes in 1912, lost Maine by 5,381 votes.

If anything further were needed to shatter the fallacy of Maine's reputation as a barometer state, it could be pointed out that twice in 70 years has the state had a democratic governor. In 1910 and in 1914. In the latter year the progressives, as well as the republicans, had a candidate in the field. The field was won by some 15,000 in excess of that of the democrats. Nevertheless, Chairman Fess today was able to gain from yesterday's returns the following exuberance of spirit: "The sweeping republican victory in Maine," he said, "the greatest in an off year in 24 years, with a single exception, is a stinging rebuke to the democrats in their effort to make a campaign issue out of the distress of the people in a worldwide economic depression."

Electorate Intelligent.

"The democratic theory to the contrary, the American electorate is an intelligent one. It knows that the president is no more responsible for a worldwide depression than he is for the drought and the electorate of Maine has registered its intelligence on this proposition.

"The reply of the Maine voters to the democratic talk that in enacting a tariff to protect the American wage earners the nation loses because of a fancied offense to foreign countries also should convince the democrats that concern about foreign interests against American interests is always a losing one.

"The vote in Maine is an endorsement of President Hoover and clear demonstration that in spite of the malicious attacks that have been directed against him he not only is holding the support of the people, but he is gaining in their esteem because of the fine constructive record his administration has achieved in the face of tremendous difficulties.

"The history in Maine is most satisfactory to the republican party just as it is most disappointing to the democratic party. Every county in the state registered a republican majority and the party held the second congressional district by a handsome margin. This normally is a democratic district and the opposition had hopes of recapturing it.

Chairman Shouse, after pointing to the record of the state, viewed the situation somewhat differently.

"The republicans are entitled to take from the result as much comfort as they can," he said. "In the neolithic age some practical political observers coined the phrase, 'As goes Maine so goes the nation.' This hackneyed absurdity was actually quoted by the chairman of the republican national committee predicting republican victory in Maine. It would be just as logical for a democratic leader to cite the probabilities of a democratic sweep in Maine as a certain augury of national democratic success."

GEORGIA'S VOTERS GO TO POLLS TODAY

well be successful. Governor Hardman will soon call an extra session of the legislature so that the plan could be put into effect by the first of the year. Proponents of the plan claim that if this is done the state's indebtedness could all be cleared up by April.

All Complete Campaign.

The remaining 36 candidates for various state offices, to say nothing of the numerous candidates for the general assembly and for congress, all have largely completed their activities. Tuesday, excepting numerous paid advertisements appearing in papers throughout the state.

Throughout Tuesday, anxious campaign managers scanned the weather reports for evidence of rain on election day. Past experience has proven that a rainy day, or preferably a shower one, brings out a larger vote in the country sections. Unable to work fields, many of the farming gentry take time off to visit the polls.

But regardless of weather conditions, a vote is not anticipated. Reports to the state democratic committee and to campaign headquarters show light registrations in many counties, and in cities as well. Registry lists not being concentrated, it was impossible to get an estimate of the eligible voters. It is considered doubtful that the final count will top 200,000 votes, however. In 1928, with four men in the governor's race, 193,025 votes were cast, and in 1928 the count in the gubernatorial contest, with two men running, stood at 254,760.

County Unit System.

Respectively of the popular vote, it is the county unit vote that determines the nomination. Each county is entitled to two unit votes for each member of the legislature. This total unit vote is 414, of which number the successful candidate for the United States senate and governor must receive not less than 208, a majority. Other officers are determined by a plurality of the unit votes.

There are eight counties in the state for six unit votes each. They are Bibb, Chatham, DeKalb, Floyd, Fulton, Laurens, Muscogee and Richmond. Thirty counties have four unit votes each, and the remaining 123 counties have two unit votes each.

The democratic state executive committee has left it up to respective county committees to fix hours for opening and closing the polls.

Interest throughout the campaign has been concentrated on the United States senate and the governorship. All candidates entered in these two brackets are experienced in the ways of politics. Senator H. C. Carwell, Jr., has had several years of legislative experience and is now speaker of the house of representatives, and James A. Perry served in the legislature before being elected to the public service commission, of which he is now chairman.

The complete ticket to be voted on tomorrow, excepting county officers, which are added to the ballot by the respective counties, is as follows:

For United States Senator—William J. Harris, John M. Slaton.

For Governor—George H. Carwell, John N. Holder, James A. Perry, E. D. Rivers, Richard B. Russell, Jr.

some bending on the strange shot, according to Ramey, was that shortly before it rang out of the darkness their car almost came to grief on a tree which had evidently been placed across the road as an obstruction. Whether or not it was placed there by the nocturnal sharpshooter is a doubtful matter, Ramey says, though he is inclined to think it was.

When they reached Dalton, Ramey said, their car attracted much attention, and someone told them two other cars had been shot at in a similar manner recently at approximately the same spot on the highway.

REFORMS ADVOCATED

BY WILLIAM G. M'RAE

William G. McRae, candidate for the legislature from Fulton county to succeed Miss Bessie Kempton, Tuesday night closed his campaign with an address in which he outlined the many "reforms in the local government which I will offer to the legislature for passage."

Listed among the bills he will offer are the following:

A bill to authorize taxpayers to institute suits on behalf of the public corporation to recover funds illegally appropriated and paid out of the public treasury; and permitting taxpayers to appeal from the decisions of public boards ordering the payment of illegal claims from the tax funds.

A bill to fix the criminal and civil liability of dishonest public servants, so that the statutes now applying only to state officials may be extended to apply to county and municipal officials.

A bill to revoke the power of the county commissioners to fix the salaries of the judges of our courts.

Mrs. Doran Offers 'Cocktail of 1930'

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Mrs. James M. Doran, who announced last winter she would fight for prohibition enforcement by making fruit juices enticing, is now the author of "Prohibition Punches."

Her book of beverages, which became available today, presents the "1930 cocktail," her own non-alcoholic concoction served several months ago as "reinforcement" to her husband's enforcement program, together with retelling recipes of many persons of prominence.

New Effort To Beat Customs Is Costly

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(AP)—An alleged attempt to bring in Parisian dress creations duty-free by removing the modiste's labels and passing off the garments as once worn at two Park Avenue women several thousand dollars today.

Frances Fenton and Mrs. Anna Scheer, sisters, both of them dress designers, were assessed $7,678 by the government.

Their original assessment was $15,257, but they decided to forego the dresses and pay only the 100 per cent fine.

Witness Declares Long Threatened His Brother

Federal Court Promises Thorough Sifting of Strange Case.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Plainly irritated by evasive answers of witnesses and failure of others to appear, Judge Wayne C. Borah declared from the bench of the federal district court here today that if he found he had jurisdiction he would get to the bottom of the seizure by state officers and the disappearance of Sam Irbly and James Terrell if it took him all summer.

He had heard witnesses testify that Irbly and Terrell had been grabbed in a Shreveport hotel early Thursday by armed state officers as they were planning to file suit against Governor Huey P. Long and hustled out of town in two automobiles. Since then a living soul had been found who admitted seeing Terrell since he was taken from the jail.

Assistant Attorney-General E. R. Schuchter, who has been making the legal fight for the return of the men, said in a statement today that he "feared" Terrell had met with foul play. Several witnesses had testified to seeing a man pointed out as Irbly both in New Orleans and Jefferson parish.

In the midst of a hearing today on a writ of habeas corpus, Judge Borah stopped to suggest to Mr. Schuchter that his petition be amended in open court to request that Irbly and Terrell "were held and detained without due process of law."

While the assistant attorney-general was drafting the amendment the judge said: "Some witnesses who have been summoned have not appeared. I will not allow a mockery to be made of this court. If I find I have jurisdiction I will get to the bottom of this case if it takes all summer."

He then adjourned court until 11 a. m. tomorrow.

At the hearing today Jack Terrell, brother of James, testified that his brother had told him that Governor Long had threatened him about a year ago.

MEMORIAL AWAITS TRANSFER OF DEED

Stone Mountain Group To Formally Relinquish Title Friday.

Renewal of active plans to re-erect the Stone Mountain memorial and to include in new plans a big memorial park waited Tuesday only on the meeting to be held Friday afternoon by the Stone Mountain Memorial Association. The meeting will be at the Chamber of Commerce rooms at 3:30 o'clock.

The meeting, it has heretofore been announced by G. F. Willis, president of the association, will formally relinquish its title in the mountain in favor of Mayor-elect James L. Key, as custodian of the mountain property for the city of Atlanta.

An escrow deed to that part of the mountain required to carve the Confederate memorial upon a greatly enlarged scope has been given by the members of the Venable family to Mr. Key and the formal action of the memorial association will mark final success of peace negotiations which were started ten days ago when Gut-zenborg arrived here to participate in a series of conferences.

While Borghum has not been employed, and will not be until the national commission to undertake the supervision of the whole project is appointed, Mayor-elect Key, at a meeting at the Fox theater Sunday, declared that "no other man can do the work." He was greeted by applause greeted this reference to the famous sculptor, who spoke later.

Former Brewer Dies.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Ernest Wagner, 61, former owner of the Rock Island Brewery, and a prominent resident of Miami Beach, died here today. He moved here eight years ago from Pelham, New York.

LOCOMOTIVE GRATES IN HOME FURNACE

Lennox Torrid Zone Has Many Features Besides Steel-riveted, Gas-tight Construction

The most durable type of grates in the world are used in the Torrid Zone Warm Air Furnace. They are of the special rocking design as used in locomotives and are controlled from the outside by a long-handled "lazy" shaker. Hardly more effort is required to shake them than is used in brushing the teeth.

Any woman can do it—and she could do it in a party dress without fear of dust or dirt because of the unusually tight-fitting doors.

The Torrid Zone is the ideal furnace for the fine residence and is made in types and sizes for homes of every class and for schools, churches, stores and office buildings. There are combination hot water and warm air types and others equipped with electric blowers for large scale operating. They are made for hard or soft coal, coke, lignite, wood, gas or oil—and they'll save money for you in the burning of any one of them. Made by the Lennox Furnace Company, Syracuse, N. Y.—Marshalltown, Iowa—Toronto, Canada. Call on

Quick Relief From Asthma Spasms

It's foolish to run chances with those wheezing, gasping spasms associated with Asthma and nasal or bronchial irritations at night, when you can get prompt relief in just a few minutes' time. How? Go to your drugstore and get a box of Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes right now. It's the shortest of magic the way this "smoke" treatment clears the passages. Usually the first few puffs restore free, easy breathing.

One Atlanta, Ga., woman says she knows if she has a bad breathing spell she will be able to get to sleep in a few minutes after smoking one of these medical cigarettes. No tobacco—just a special combination of medical herbs, whose soothing vapor has a clearing action on the upper air passages as nothing else can. Ask for the New Stronger Cigarette.

Hardman Going Home To Vote; Others Leave

Governor Hardman will go to his Commerce home today to cast his ballot in Georgia's biennial democratic primary, and several other state officials, who are candidates, will exercise their suffrage in the old home precincts.

Quite a number, however, who have moved their political residences to the capital city, will vote in DeKalb and Fulton counties.

Among those who will leave the city to vote will be Hal M. Stanley, candidate for commissioner of commerce and labor, who will vote in Dublin; General Homer B. Parker, candidate for controller general, who will vote in Statesboro; George Carwell, secretary of state and candidate for governor, who will vote in Wilkeson county; and R. de T. Lawrence, commissioner of pensions and candidate to succeed himself, who will vote in Cobb county.

D. M. L. Duggan, state superintendent of education and candidate to succeed himself, is a resident of Rabun county, and the home box of Captain J. W. Barnett, chairman of the state highway commission, is in Athens.

Among those who will stay at their desks and not vote is Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture, who is a candidate to succeed himself; Attorney-General George M. Napier, a candidate to succeed himself also, will vote in Decatur. General W. H. Harrison, candidate for controller general, and Captain J. W. Speer, candidate to succeed himself as state treasurer, and Judge G. A. Johns, acting chairman of the prison commission, will all vote in Atlanta.

HARLAND WILL OPEN RETAIL STORE TODAY

Formal opening of the new retail stationery store and sales office of John H. Harland Company at 8 Pryor street, on the ground floor of the new Ten Pryor Street Office building, will be held today. The store has entrances both on Pryor street and from the lobby of the building. In addition to the store and office space, the establishment uses the basement for storage.

The new store fixtures are of the latest design, handily finished in battleship gray and light green. Six attractive display windows, two on Pryor street and four in the building lobby, are provided for merchandise display. A large balcony, extending practically half the length of the store has been attractively fitted up for the lithographing and printing sales department. The manufacturing department and general offices of the company are maintained at the plant located at Jackson street and Highland avenue.

Atlanta Naval Reserve Ranks Third in U. S.

From the group of 34 battalions of the United States naval reserve in the United States, Atlanta's unit, the first battalion of the sixth naval district ranks third. This announcement was received by Lieutenant Harry F. Dobbs, United States naval reserves, commanding the local unit in a copy of the report of the naval reserve inspection board to the secretary of the navy.

Atlanta's battalion is composed of two divisions. Ranking according to divisions, the two local units placed twenty-first and twenty-second out of a total of 140 divisions in the nation. The second division, under Lieutenant M. R. Sanders, United States naval reserves, was given twenty-first place, and the first division, under Lieutenant W. C. Wroe, United States naval reserves, the next ranking place.

The announcements were made following the inspection by the above board to 36 cities over the United States. Not until all cities had been visited and a thorough comparison made could the announcement be made. Atlanta's inspection was made several months ago.

Ranking ahead of Atlanta in the battalion standings were the third battalion of upper New York and the Eleventh battalion of St. Paul, Minn. Factors considered by the examining board included the following: Number cruising as a unit, turnover, average drill attendance, inspection attendance, general appearance, drills and instruction and mobilization efficiency. It is interesting to note regarding the division ratings, that the Newport (R. I.) division, which took first place, had an average of 87.8 compared to the Atlanta average of 81.7 or only 6.1 per cent difference.

Atlanta's standing this year was considerably higher than it was in 1929.

J. J. Doran Heads Cost Accountants

J. J. Doran, of Davison-Paxon Company, has been elected president of the Atlanta chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants, and other directing officers and a board of directors also has been appointed. It was announced Tuesday, Paul Mallory, the Ernest L. Rhodes Company, was chosen vice president; E. G. Fields, of the William H. James Company, second vice president, and E. W. Gottschalk, of Touche Niven & Company, secretary and treasurer.

The following board of directors was named: A. R. Stone, in charge of membership; E. B. Everett, in charge of programs; C. M. Watt, Jr., membership; J. H. Rehagen, meetings, and Mr. Tompkins, publications. Regular meetings have been slated for the second Tuesday of each month. Each gathering will begin at 6:30 p. m., and the place of meeting will be announced from time to time.

Outing, Tournament Planned by Alphas

The Alpha class of Wesley Memorial church will hold a watermelon cutting and miniature golf tournament at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night at the Grove Park Miniature Golf course on Rockhead avenue near Hollywood road. It was announced Tuesday night by Albert Taylor, president of the class. Approximately 125 members of the class, together with their friends, are expected to attend the watermelon cutting, following which, it was said, a miniature golf "championship" tournament will be staged at the miniature links.

KELLY SPRINGFIELD CLAIMS CHARGE FALSE

Suit and Application for Receivership Declared Unfounded.

Samuel Woolner, Jr., president of Kelly Springfield Tire Company, has authorized the following statement:

"Referring to the suit of one James A. Kelly against Kelly Springfield Tire Company for the appointment of a receiver, the suit and application for receivership are unfounded and unjustified. Although plaintiff claims to be the owner of 100 shares of the common stock of the company, the books of the company show that he is not the registered owner of any of the common stock.

"The Kelly Springfield Tire Company is in excellent financial condition. The balance sheet of the company as of July 31, 1930, shows current assets of approximately $13,000,000 against current liabilities of approximately $2,100,000, a ratio of more than six to one. The company has no bonds, debentures or long time notes outstanding. Notwithstanding the general business depression, the business of the company for the months of July and August has shown a satisfactory profit.

"Counsel for the company have advised us that the suit is absolutely without merit and unjustified on both the law and facts. It is apparent that the application for a receiver is not made in good faith and will undoubtedly be summarily denied by the court."

TODAY THE PEOPLE WILL RIGHT-ABOUT-FACE

The assiduous tactics of the selfish and corrupt officeholders of Fulton County will be stopped by a decisive vote of the taxpayers

TODAY AT THE POLLS!

The people will not return to office a person who has not kept the faith! The abominable bill introduced at the instigation of the Court House Ring, to surrender the Atlanta School System to the County, will be repealed. All bills introduced in the Legislature affecting Fulton County must have the indorsement of the people, and not put through because of special interests and to satisfy political cliques.

Level of Teachers' Salaries In City Remains Unchanged

School Board Refuses To Reconsider Establishment of Negro School on Walker Street.

Salaries of employees of the Atlanta borough public schools will remain the same next year as for the 1929-30 session, because of failure of the board Tuesday afternoon to take any action looking toward a reduction of expenses at the regular September meeting of that body.

Allocations for salary accounts for 1930 amounted to more than $2,900,000, or about 91 per cent of the entire income of the department, according to Dr. McIntosh M. Burns, president, and next year will be "at least that much."

In addition, the board declined to reconsider its action in establishing the abandoned Walker street school, formerly school headquarters, as an elementary negro school, despite the fact that members of the first and second ward delegations of council appeared to protest the move.

Alderman Robert F. Pennington, of the first ward, and W. B. Cody, representing the Pedigree Dairies, were among those who appeared before the board asking that the board rescind its former action. The borough council passed, unanimously, a resolution requesting the board to reconsider at its meeting Monday, September 1.

Martin L. Throver, representing the Atlanta Christian Council, A. T.

Walton, negro lawyer, and others asked the board to stand pat until ample facilities have been provided to care for the students of the school.

On motion of Commissioner John T. Hancock, of the eighth ward, the following resolution was adopted by the board:

Whereas, the general council, at its meeting of September 2, 1930, passed a resolution requesting the board to rescind its action in setting aside the Walker Street school building as a school for negro children, and

Whereas, this request from the general council came too late for reconsideration by the board, all arrangements having been completed by the administration staff for the coming year as directed by resolution of the board, and

Whereas this action was taken by the board only after due consideration of the property and its environs, its proximity to a large colored population, its probable effect upon other property in the vicinity, the urgent need for another building to house the great crowd in the colored schools of that section, the value of grounds and building, most of which value would be lost by the sale of the land and the junking of the building, and

Whereas the board feels that it would be unjust to the taxpayers and subject to severe criticism if it failed to use this property in a way as to benefit the largest number of its citizens possible, without regard to race, color or creed, and

Whereas, this board believes that the training and improvement of our colored youth constitutes a challenge that cannot be ignored, and

Whereas, both the general council and the board of education have found from past experience that when the city has property to sell, the price is low, but when the city is the buyer, the price is high, and

Whereas, the general council was not explicit in its intentions as to making up any deficit between the proceeds from the old property and the purchase of land and erection of a commodious building on the new site, therefore, he it resolved, that the board expresses its appreciation to the general council for its interest in the public school system, and he it resolved further, that if and when sufficient funds are available for the purchase of land further west and for the erection of a new building to take place of the old, the general council may rest assured that the board will give the matter the further consideration that it deserves.

Mayor E. D. Barrett, of the borough of College Park, and Mayor C. R. Ryburn, of the borough of Avondale, appeared before the board asking that the rule pertaining to employees of the borough of Atlanta, including school teachers, not be enforced.

Councilman George Lyle, chairman of a special council committee, making a survey of the employees and their residences, declared that he would be willing to exempt all those who were already engaged in purchasing homes or who had other valid excuses. He stated that he will not take an arbitrary attitude in the matter, but that he took an oath to enforce the ordinances of Atlanta borough and that the stipulations should be complied with—that is, those who live outside should apply to council for permission in accordance with the measure.

He also declared that meetings of the board will be held in one of the larger council rooms in the future wherever possible, to avoid use of the council chamber.

Mr. Lyle is chairman of the building and grounds committee of council, and as such declared he is interested in protecting the property as far as is possible.

"I want to say we will co-operate in any way possible, and when large delegations are expected, will open the council chamber to the meetings," he added.

The following resignations in the elementary schools were accepted:

Miss Thelma Souder, Miss Mattie Ward, Miss Marion Foreman, Miss Rhoda Byrd.

Leaves of absence were granted to Mrs. Margaret M. Holden and L. E. Roberts.

Memorials to the late Miss Mary Christian and Mrs. J. A. Blackshear, the latter a teacher in the kindergarten of the Fair Street school, were read and slipped through the minutes of the board.

Many other routine matters were considered.

CAPT. FAIN SAVES SUSPECT IN SLAYING

serves at the station and all available call officers to go to the vicinity of the hospital.

There it was discovered that a large crowd thronged the sidewalk near the negro clinic. It was a nondescript mob, composed largely of men in civilian clothes, police said. A buzz of excitement throbbed through its ranks as the police cars drew up. Chief Beavers was among the first of the officers to reach the scene.

One man, apparently a leader of the mob, saw Captain Fain and stepped forward to meet him. It was then that the captain employed his nerve, humor and diplomacy. Without displaying any official resentment or animosity, he began to talk to the unidentified leader and those who surged around him. He reminded them that they were supposed to be law-abiding citizens. He spoke sympathetically of the death of McWhorter, and called the attention of the leaders to the work of the officers on his watch who had captured the suspected slayers.

When the front ranks of the mob showed signs of restlessness and began once more to move forward, Captain Fain met nerve with nerve. Indicating an imaginary line across the sidewalk he adopted a law often used by old-time skippers of four-masted schooners.

"Now you men," he said, "are law-abiding citizens up to now. But you are just about to become law-breakers, and the first man that steps across that line violates the law. I represent the law here, and whoever violates that law is going to have to answer to me and my men."

The tall leader and those nearest Captain Fain eyed him silently for a minute or so, saying nothing. Then the tall man turned and said: "The captain is right, boys. Let's go back."

The crowd began to walk back toward Piedmont avenue. A certain element in it, however, still hummed with dissatisfaction, and the victory the captain had won was perilously near an open break when another unidentified man broke from the ranks and came up to the captain. In a rage he threw his hat to the ground in front of Captain Fain's feet. He surveyed Captain Fain with cold eyes, then challenged:

"Spit in that hat!"

But the police official's sense of humor came to the fore here. His eyes twinkling in the street light, Captain Fain placed his hands on his hips.

"Listen, fella," he scoffed. "You've got more sense than that, haven't you? Why, son, if I were to spit in your eyes I'd drown you! Now isn't that a fine way for a grown man to act—throw his best hat on the ground!"

And invite a captain of police to spit in it? You ought to be ashamed of yourself!"

Crowd Laughs.

The crowd began to laugh, and the unidentified challenger, having been exposed to the ridicule of his own ranks, lost his point. Within five minutes the entire throng had dispersed.

Meanwhile, Chief Beavers went along the line of the men and talked to them, and as he and Captain Fain were talking, the crowd of the hospital surreptitiously placed Glaze on a transferable and slipped him through an underpass over to the white clinic where he was placed in an ambulance and rushed to the tower, where he was given special quarters with medical attention.

Steps toward presenting the case against the two suspects to the grand jury probably will get under way Friday, at which time, according to Assistant Solicitor-General Ed. A. Stephens, he will take the matter up.

The condition of Glaze was such, it was pointed out, to preclude the possibility of a preliminary hearing for a few days at least, and that of Cox, while not serious, will hinge upon developments in the meantime.

The coroner's jury Tuesday, considering the case, returned a verdict of manslaughter, police said. A buzz of excitement throbbed through its ranks as the police cars drew up. Chief Beavers was among the first of the officers to reach the scene.

Funeral services today. Funeral services will be held for Mr. McWhorter at 10 o'clock this morning from St. Paul Methodist church, the Rev. Felton Williams officiating. Interment will follow later in the day at Whitesburg. McWhorter's old home, Palbearers will be H. Bland, W. D. Ford, H. U. Denney, E. Gurley, S. Bland and J. A. Sexton.

The victim of the shooting is survived by his father, Milton R. McWhorter; two brothers, Love E. McWhorter, of Atlanta, and J. E. McWhorter, of Newnan, and three sisters, Mrs. H. F. Nash, Miss Maude E. McWhorter, of Atlanta, and Mrs. C. F. Hughes, of Barnesville.

The slain operator had been in the railway service of the Georgia Power Company for more than 10 years and was one of its most reliable trainmen. Frank Butler, vice president in charge of street railway operations, said Tuesday.

After being grilled for hours in police station Tuesday before his removal to jail, Cox admitted, police said, that he and Glaze had plotted the robbery, as a result of which McWhorter lost his life. He laid all blame for the shooting, however, on Glaze, while Glaze, also admitting his plan with Cox, police alleged, to rob the motorman, said that Cox did the actual shooting. No direct confession had been obtained up to a late hour Tuesday night.

Glaze was found by police seriously wounded near the scene of the killing Monday night, and from information obtained by police from him.

they went to a Grape street address and took Cox in custody. Cox had been wounded slightly in the arm.

Roofers See Period Of Prosperity Ahead

COLUMBUS, Ga., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Georgia and Alabama Roofers Manufacturers in session here Tuesday expressed the opinion that an era of activity is just ahead for the industry in the two states.

A marked tone of optimism characterized expressions by speakers who said curtailment of production had been a great help.

Members voted to hold the next session here October 10. They were entertained at a luncheon.

Those present included D. G. Bland of Lumpkin, president, and W. R. Melton, of Cuthbert, secretary.

Cheap Sulphate Discovered in Cuba

HAVANA, Sept. 9.—(AP)—An announcement was made today that Cuban chemists have accomplished something toward which the United States department of agriculture has been striving more than 10 years—the discovery of a treatment of manganese to get a cheap sulphate, which is an efficient fertilizer.

The discovery is announced by the Cuban Mining Company, of Santiago de Cuba, and is expected to play an important role in the future of the Cuban sugar and tobacco industries.

These industries have been spending millions of dollars annually in fertilizing alkaline soils. Tests conducted by the United States department of agriculture have shown that manganese sulphate, when introduced into soil of high alkali content, improves growth greatly.

Sutton Is Released By Peru Government

LIMA, Peru, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The government announced tonight that Charles W. Sutton, American who had been arrested by the new Sanchez Cerro government on charges of mishandling irrigation funds during the Leguia regime, had been released from custody this afternoon. J. H. Gildred, another American, held pending an audit of his account, was released this morning.

Canadian Explorer Finds Two Campsites of Franklin

EDMONTON, Alta., Sept. 8.—(AP)—The Edmonton Journal publishes an article by W. E. Gilbert, pilot of the Burwash aerial expedition to King William's Land, telling of the finding of two camp sites of the disastrous expedition of Sir John Franklin, who, with his party, was lost in the arctic 85 years ago.

Sir John, setting out to discover a northwest passage to the east in 1845, fell victim to the cold. For 14 years his fate was unknown but thereafter other expeditions found his camps and a diary, telling the expedition's history. He is generally credited with having discovered the northwest passage, and a monument to him stands today in Westminster abbey.

Gilbert says Mayor J. T. Burwash discovered important information concerning the Franklin expedition, which, with other fruits of the Burwash journey, will be forwarded to Ottawa. He said the north magnetic pole was reached and the area around it mapped by aerial photography.

In addition the fliers mapped over 2,000 miles of Canada's arctic coastline, surveyed uncharted territory, including many islands and reefs hitherto dangerous to arctic navigation. Gilbert and Burwash were on their way back to Winnipeg by air today.

MANY OTHERS HAVE BOUGHT IT.

Lie Puen, a Chinese student, went to Chicago to learn American ways. He secured two able teachers who were confidence men on the side. They swindled him out of $2,000 in three hours flat. Lie abandoned his studies promptly. He said they were too expensive.

Refrigeration with Gas— as simple as cooking with gas

10 DOLLARS

FIRST PAYMENT

Refrigeration with gas is the simplest and least expensive form of refrigeration, and the ELECTROLUX gas refrigerator is the simplest as well as the least expensive refrigerator to operate.

There is no machinery in this refrigerator, none is needed. There is nothing to pump, no motors, no belts, no fans, no moving parts whatever. There is consequently no friction whatever, and there can be no wear.

The gas refrigerator not only will not wear out, but it can not wear out, because there is no motion or friction to wear it out.

20 DOLLARS

TRADE-IN ALLOWANCE

Gas refrigeration makes use of nature's principle which makes dewy mornings cool and summer showers refreshing, the cooling effect of the evaporation and condensation of a harmless liquid. A tiny gas flame supplies the heat that in nature is supplied by the sun—but intensifies it so that temperatures below zero may be reached with ease if desirable.

With this simplicity of equipment, and our long experience in providing you unfailing and dependable service, we can confidently offer you the certainty of permanently satisfactory refrigeration in your home.

Why not take advantage of the unusually liberal terms we are making this month?

Candidate to Succeed Himself as

Comptroller General

Subject to Democratic Primary

SEPTEMBER 10th

Wm. B. Harrison was appointed in September, 1929, to succeed the late Hon. Wm. A. Wright as Comptroller General and Insurance Commissioner of Georgia.

Fifteen years of service as chief clerk of the department and the "right hand man" of General Wright, gave Mr. Harrison exceptional training and experience for the position of Comptroller General.

He is probably the best informed man in Georgia as to state tax laws—and is always at the command of committees of the legislature and other authorities.

In the administration of the office he has shown ability and energy, combined with fairness and courtesy to all dealing with his department.

The Comptroller General is also Insurance Commissioner, and Mr. Harrison's handling of the Insurance Department through capable and experienced appointees has been satisfactory to companies, agents and the public.

On the platform of proven capacity, experience, knowledge of the affairs of the department, and willingness to serve; and promising a continuance of the well-defined policies under which the department has been operated heretofore, "Bill" Harrison asks the endorsement and votes of the electorate of Georgia.

Let's Give Him a Full Term!

DENNINGTON-GIBBS WEDDING TAKES PLACE SEPT. 12

Bishop Warren Candler
To Officiate at Ceremony

Plans for the wedding of Miss Jennie Louise Dennington, daughter of Robert S. Dennington, to John Newton Gibbs are of wide interest. The marriage will be solemnized at 5:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, September 12, at the home of the bride-elect, 948 Washington street. Bishop Warren A. Candler will perform the ceremony in the presence of a representative gathering of relatives and friends.

An interesting program of nuptial music will be rendered at the ceremony. Charles White, well-known soloist, will sing "The Day of Olden Promise," by Hamblen, to a piano accompaniment by Miss Sara Milner. Miss Janie Hunter, violinist, will play "Salut d'Amour." Miss Milner and Miss Hunter will herald the approach of the bridal party with the strains of Mendelssohn's bridal chorus, changing to Lohengrin's wedding march upon the entrance of the bridal party. The piano and violin duet, "Trauermusik," will be played as a dulcet-toned accompaniment to the wedding service.

Miss Dennington has chosen as her maid of honor Miss Sara Gibbs, sister of the groom. Augustus Miller will be the best man. The bride-to-be will be given in marriage by her father. Following the wedding an informal reception will be held at the home, honoring members of the wedding party and intimate friends. The young couple will make their home at 948 Washington street.

Miss Lena Tuggle
Weds Mr. Miller.

A marriage of interest throughout the state was that of Miss Lena Hill Tuggle, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hill C. Tuggle, of Stone Mountain, and Charles Garland Miller, of Atlanta, formerly of Washington, D. C., which was solemnized Saturday afternoon, August 30, at 3 o'clock at an informal ceremony at the bride's home. The home was beautifully decorated with ferns, southern smilax, white and gold. In the living room where the ceremony was performed there was an improvised altar of ferns, with baskets of dahlias and gladioli. Tall white candles, burning white tapers were placed at intervals.

The ring ceremony was performed by Rev. A. T. Parsons, of Stone Mountain. Preceding the ceremony a program of nuptial music was rendered by Miss Lora Lee DeLoach, Mrs. O. Y. McElwee, and Miss L. C. Tuggle, "All For You" and "O, Promise Me."

The bride's sister, Mrs. Ben Bartow Burgess, of Decatur, was matron of honor, and the bride's only attendant, Miss Jane Small, W. H. Crawford, John Churchill and L. B. Brooks.

Miss Kamper Weds Mr. Radford In Emory Theological Chapel

The marriage of Miss Vera Waller Kamper and Garland Radford was solemnized yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Emory University theological chapel before an assemblage of relatives and friends. The Reverend Carey Breckenridge Wilmer, of Sewanee, Tenn., performed the ceremony before an altar, the background being formed with stately palms and ferns, and starred with baskets holding pale yellow gladioli, dahlias and roses.

Bridal Party. Misses Alice and Mary Reins and R. D. Radford rendered a musical program before the entrance of the bride party, which formed a picturesque tableau at the altar, awaiting the lovely bride. J. R. Radford, Jr., and J. C. Radford, brothers of the groom; Luke Clegg and A. B. Mobley, Jr., were ushers, and R. A. Radford acted as his brother's best man.

Miss Nancy Kamper acted as her sister's maid of honor and only attendant. She was crowned in a golden brown crepe trimmed with velvet of the same shade and worn with a felt hat to match. She carried a bouquet of bronzed dahlias.

Little Martha Lannins, niece of the groom, was flower girl and wore a frock of pastel green georgette, trimmed with ruffles of the same material. She carried a basket of red, yellow and blue delphiniums.

The bride entered with her father, Francis E. Kamper, who gave her in marriage, her beauty being enhanced by her costume of crinkled green crepe, trimmed at the neckline and sleeves with real lace. She wore a hat of green felt to match the gown and carried a bouquet of Lady Huntington roses and valley lilies.

Mrs. Francis E. Kamper, mother of the bride, was given in marriage to Mr. J. R. Radford, Sr., mother of the groom, wore a figured model of chiffon with black velvet hat. Her shoulder bouquet was of Pernet roses and valley lilies.

Informal Reception. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Kamper entertained the wedding party, out-of-town guests and a few intimate friends at an informal reception at their home on Springdale road.

The home was decorated with quantities of early fall flowers in attractive arrangement. Forming the central decoration for the table in the dining room was the three-tiered wedding cake, richly embossed with roses and bearing the initials of the bride and groom.

Miss Fannie Radford, sister of the groom, kept the bride's book, and assisting in entertaining were Misses Caroline Radford, sister of the bridegroom; Wilhelmina Dougherty, Margaret Underwood, Eloise Gaines, Josephine Walker, Emily Cope, of Savannah; Ansis Jones, Lilly Pace, Marguerite Hodnett, Medames Powers Pace, Richard L. Gatewood, St. Julien Pringle.

Mr. and Mrs. Radford left on the wedding journey and upon their return will reside with Mr. and Mrs. Kamper at their home on Springdale road.

Miss Johnson Weds Thomas R. Ball

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Johnson announce the marriage of their daughter, Leonora Marshall, to Thomas Rust Ball, the ceremony having taken place September 2 at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Wilburn Smith. The young couple ple left for a motor trip to Florida and upon their return will be at home with the bride's parents on North Boulevard.

Mrs. McGregor Is Hostess at Home.

Mrs. C. T. McGregor was hostess at a bridge-tee at the home of Mrs. E. L. Hardy on Barnett street yesterday in compliment to Miss Dorothy Adams Costello, a popular bride-elect. Mrs. R. J. Suber and Mrs. E. L. Hardy assisted in entertaining.

Miss Gassett Weds Alvah J. Culpepper.

FORT VALLEY, Ga., Sept. 9.—The marriage of Alvah J. Culpepper to Miss Jewell Gassett, of Byron, took place in Peach county where the bride and groom were married. The marriage vows were spoken in the Methodist church of Byron at 4 o'clock last Sunday afternoon with the bride's pastor, the Rev. R. G. Johnson, reading the ceremony before friends and relatives. T. J. Gassett, brother of the bride, and Clarence Fagan, of Fort Valley, were ushers. Mrs. M. C. Mosley, at the piano, rendered a musical program and Miss Margaret Branham, of Fort Valley, sang, "I Love You Truly." Mendelssohn's wedding march was used for the processional and the wedding march from "Lohengrin" was played for the recessional.

The bride wore an ensemble of navy blue, and carried a large bunch of white roses, showered with lilies of the valley. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. C. E. Avery, of Byron, and was graduated last summer at Young Harris College. She will be welcomed into the young social married contingent in Fort Valley, where her husband is one of the city's most promising young business men. Mr. Culpepper, who has been associated with the Fort Valley Leader-Tribune for the past six years, was associate editor with John H. Jones as editor until recently when Mr. Jones went to Cedar town to take charge of the Cedar town Standard and Alvah Culpepper assumed the editor's desk of the Leader-Tribune.

After September 15 Mr. and Mrs. Culpepper will be at home on Anderson avenue and Persons street, where they will occupy one of the Miller apartments.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts were former residents of the city before departing to Florida five years ago, where they have been identified with social and civic activities. Mrs. Roberts is chairman of the woman's division of Dade county democratic committee, having been appointed by Mrs. Nellie Taylor Rose, national chairman. She is editor of club and parent-teacher work in the Miami Daily News, having served efficiently in this capacity for the past year.

Miss Ethel Hunter Is Honor Guest.

Miss Ethel Farmer Hunter, bride-elect, was the central figure yesterday at the tea at which Mrs. Nellie Taylor Rose, national chairman, was hostess at the Piedmont Driving Club.

Invited to this affair were Misses Ethel Hunter, Elizabeth Hunter, Susan E. Jones, Ellen Newell, Margaret Stovall, Mrs. Ralph Paris, Mrs. Preston Arkwright, Jr.

Misses Moore Are Entertained.

Miss Mary Moore and Miss Lucie Moore, of Hampton, Ga., have returned home after being entertained as the guests of their cousin, Miss Doris Adamson, at her home in West End. Among those who entertained for them were Miss Frances Long, Miss Adamson, and others. The Misses Moore are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Roan Moore, of Hampton.

Miss Mary Moore will attend the Georgia State College for Women, at Milledgeville, this fall, and Miss Lucie Moore will attend the high school at Hampton.

den, of Nashville, Tenn.; J. E. Overlake, of Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. William M. Phipps, of New Orleans, La.; Miss Eugenia M. Johnston, of Savannah, Ga., and Miss Edith D. Johnston, of Savannah, Ga., are at the Biltmore.

Miss Mary Howard Everett is visiting in St. Louis, Mo., and before returning she will spend a few days in Nashville, Tenn., as the guest of Mrs. Fred Sale.

Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Seymour had as their guest for the week-end, Fred Peters, of New York city.

Miss Ann Davis, who has been the guest of Miss Inez Patterson, has returned to her home in Richmond, Va. Miss Patterson leaves Tuesday for Rome, Ga., where she will continue her studies at Shorter college.

Miss Frances Woolford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Guy Woolford, of Springfield road, leaves today for Mary Baldwin school in Staunton, Va.

Miss McDougald Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Evans, of Clifton road, is leaving this week for Athens to enter the University of Georgia.

Misses Virginia and John Bowie have returned to their home on Eighth street after a two-week visit to New York city, Philadelphia, Pa., and Brighton, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Brandon, Jr., left Monday in their car for Asheville, N. C., and will be at Grove Park inn.

Miss Eleanor Louise Smith has returned from New York, where she has been studying dancing. She also spent a part of the summer on Cape Cod as dancing counsellor at Camp Cowassee.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Linder, of Nashville, Tenn., are at the Georgian Terrace.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Hearst Roane have returned from their wedding trip through North Carolina, and are now at home in the Roanoke apartments on Cleburne avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Winship Nunnally, of Atlanta, are spending a few days at the Lookout Club hotel on Lookout Mountain.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Newman have returned from Lakemont, where they spent the past month.

Mrs. Bratton Davies has returned from Columbus, where she attended the wedding of her niece, Miss Frances Daniel and Frank Storey, which took place Sunday at high noon at Rose Hill Baptist church.

Mrs. Livingston Leeds and Miss Dorothy Leeds have returned from Europe, where they spent the past four months, and are at the Georgian Terrace.

Mrs. B. R. Beck, of Decatur, will leave October 1 for Florida, where she will spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Godley are in New York city.

Miss Adelia I. Morgan has returned from Tennessee, where she spent the summer on Lookout Mountain, and at Cleveland. She will reside at 3145 Peachtree road.

Marie Bommer Flower Paintings Will Be Shown at High Museum

The fall series of exhibitions at the High Museum of Art will be opened September 15 with the collection of 21 water color flower paintings by Marie Bommer, of New York city, whose work reflects marked individuality and freedom from the influence of ultra modernism. This show which presents the beauty of familiar flowers, colorful and accurately drawn, is one which the museum was unusually fortunate in securing and is sure to make a wide and lasting appeal. It will be on view in the auditorium gallery.

The collection includes not only elaborate paintings, but smaller and simpler studies. Among these are "Seven Zinnias," "Tulips," "Oriental Bantay," "Larkspur," "Arabesque," "Reflections of the East," and "Pansy-fundity." Each picture is a painting not merely of flowers but an expression of real artistic feeling through the medium of flowers.

Jackets Drilled Hard on Aerial Game; Scrimmage Is Near; Punt Formations Occupy Bulldogs as Coaches Seek Offense; Memphis Wins Pennant When New Orleans Game Is Forfeited

JACKETS WORK HARD ON PASSES; SKIRMISH NEAR

Squad Put Through Near-Scrimmage as Coaches Strive to Build Offense.

By Herb Clark.

This air route to fame and glory seems just before assuming an aura of major importance, both offensively and defensively, at Georgia Tech's Flats, on the basis of the Tuesday workout.

Whereas Monday the Jackets had started a brand new week off with a dummy scrimmage based mainly and almost entirely on passes and had done very well, thank you, with the passes, especially well considering the fact that it was their first venture of any importance into the realm of the air, Tuesday they tried again and met with little success.

Passes Tuesday were going the way of the pure, which is said to be easy. They floated through the air and came to rest some time later on the ground.

Attempts had, it is true, been made to see that they rested in gold-clad arms, but they failed in far too many instances to breed joy in the hearts of the coaches.

SCRIMMAGE DUE. The practice Tuesday brought the Jackets to what seems to be the very edge of a scrimmage session. Head coach, new shiny black ones of the "bullet" type, made their first appearance of the year.

Shoulder pads and hip pads were also donned. It was the pass session which occupied most of the time for the backs and ends while the linemen took over the exercise of the wrestling class off in their own special corner of the field.

SETTLE DOWN. Coach Alexander and his backfield and end aides, Mike Miles and Captain Robinson, proceeded to the center of the gridiron with their staffs of players, ordered the head gear out, and settled down to the pass workout.

It was one skeleton team against another. The defense was in the hands of a complete backfield, the attack a pair of ends, with a center to do the necessary snapping.

The drill was the closest thing to a scrimmage which has yet been attempted, both blocking and tackling being permitted, even urged, when conditions permitted. And, when the pass was completed, infrequently, there was the sound of crashes to bring echoes of past seasons and visions of those to come.

ACCURATE PASSES. Earl Dunlap, Roy MacArthur and Sid Williams did most of the tossing for the afternoon session, and, as accurate enough, the receivers and the defense, however, exuded an air of caution and unfamiliarity with their tasks which let most of the passes sail on unobstructed.

A dummy scrimmage was on the menu to close the day's session, and in it, with the ball kept on the ground throughout, the Jackets did right well.

Coach Alexander had two teams alternating on the attack, running plays against an assorted crew of defensive players which was constantly shifting.

FIRST "VARSITY." One "varsity" eleven had Jones and Goldsmith at ends, Matt and Spencer at tackle, Brooks and Ezell at guards, Farmer at center, Barron and Williams at halves and Cain at fullback, with Captain Earl Dunlap running things.

Sam Colvin called signals for Strickland, fullback, and Weatherford and Gray, halves, and, for days behind a line composed of Isaacs and Heron, ends; Finch and Holt, tackles; Millians and McKee, guards, and Nebelt, center.

There was a snap to each play which made things hum. The backs were clicking into the appointed spots and ready to carry the ball and block well.

LINE DOES WELL. The linemen were holding and opening holes and leaving to join the interference, and the ends were slashing ahead or circling to get into "lead" battalions on the opposite flank.

plenty of pep. Oh, the Jackets closed the session nicely and handled the ball well—on the ground.

Meanwhile the Gray Devils are being molded into a smooth squad and being taught plays that they may be ready to take on the varsity in scrimmage whenever Coach "Ellick" calls for it.

That time, it seems, is practically at hand.

SAGUES BEATS CHIEF WILBUR

Ernie Sagues, Argentine scrapper, won a 10-round decision over Chief Wilbur, of Oklahoma, Tuesday night at the Atlanta theater in the opening matches of Jay Jarvis' fight club.

Late season developments indicate that Johnny Dobbs picked a real prize in Bunny Hearn, the Baltimore southpaw. Hearn cost the Crackers a neat piece of change but he has proven himself a real bargain.

Hearn has pitched more low hit games than any Cracker. When he is wrong there is no disguising it but when he is right he is sizzling. And he is more often right than wrong lately.

It may be that his one-hit performance against Birmingham in the first battle of the Barons last stand in Atlanta was the one that kept the Crackers in first division. That victory must have heartened the club no little. Hearn's left flipper may have prevented a disastrous ending to the season. If true the purchase price was a bright investment.

NOT SUCH A JOB AFTER ALL

Word from Knoxville is that Major Bob Neyland has not been with his squad much this year. First it was government business, something to do with locks and dams. Then death in the family has taken him out of Knoxville for most of this week. However, his two boy friends, Britton and Parker, have been carrying on business as usual. Probably there is not a great deal of coaching to be done on the hill after all. When you think of all the experienced men they return—but who that plays Tennessee wants to think about that.

ONE OF FOOTBALL'S GREATEST

As long as football is played in the south, perhaps, the memory of Stumpy Thomason will haunt the gridiron. Talking with Jack Cannon, freshman coach at Auburn, the other day and mention was made of that Tech-Notre Dame game of 1929.

"The best player on that Tech team," Cannon volunteered, "was Stumpy Thomason. I have never seen a finer type. Say, he could take it and grin and say nothing. And when he paid you back a jolt he jarred you clear back to the third or fourth generation. He never complained and never crabbed as many players do when their club is being outscored. He kept his mouth shut and kept playing football."

FIGURES ON NIGHT BASEBALL

W. N. Cox, who is sports editor of the Greensboro Daily News, sends figures along on night baseball in Greensboro with the following comment:

"This may be used in the night baseball debate if the question ever arises in Atlanta. The night racket is getting the women folks. It is terrible. They all go in this section, taking the knee-baby and all the rest of the brood. The owners are letting them in free. My telephone rings 50 times a day asking if it is ladies' night. The ladies, it seems, never read the papers. However, the peace and quiet of football soon will be with us for which all of us in the night baseball sector will be thankful."

NIGHT CROWDS LARGER

Cox enclosed data that showed 17,513 paid admissions to 23 games of arc light baseball. This is almost double daylight averages at Greensboro. At least 13 of the 23 games were played when patrons did not care whether Greensboro won or not.

No doubt about it—night baseball will sweeten the receipts of minor league managers in nearly every locality. It has helped in Little Rock, so Owner Allen says. It is a grand spectacle in smaller cities.

R. J. Spiller, Cracker business manager, may be right, however, in insisting night baseball would not prove popular in Atlanta. There are plenty of places to go here at night. Our theaters, legitimate and screen, are second to none south of Washington. Our musical attractions are of a very high order. Our bowling alleys are commodious. Our miniature golf courses are everywhere underfoot. So with lodge meetings, contract bridge, frequent boxing and wrestling shows, window shopping and occasional fires our citizenry manages to get along fairly well without night baseball.

Then, of course, there is the old-fashioned pastime of going to bed around 10 o'clock, which, between you and me, attracts fully 325,000 of our 366,000 people in Greater Atlanta.

However, don't let that opinion get out.

Bryan Grant Upset By Unknown Player

By Ted Vosburgh.

Associated Press Sports Writer.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 9.—(AP)—A fighting Irishman, Lyleton Rogers, drew himself up to his full height of six feet seven inches, took a firm grip on his racket and provided the national tennis singles championship with its daily thrill this afternoon by beating young Ellsworth Vines, of Pasadena, Cal., 4-6, 4-6, 6-4, 6-1, 6-4.

The victory carried the biggest tennis play into the fourth round where he will encounter Bill Tilden tomorrow.

"Big Bill," whose six feet, one inch of altitude will be dwarfed by the giant, drew a cup from Ireland, outclassed Ed Feibelman, of New York, the twentieth ranking player of the country, 6-1, 6-1, 6-0, and took advantage of the opportunity to pull off all manner of spectacular shots for the benefit of the gallery of 5,500.

Vines was not the only seeded player to bow out in the third round. Bryan Grant, of Atlanta, pin-sized holder of the national clay court singles title, No. 12 on the American seed list, was upset by Samuel B. Gilpin II, of Philadelphia.

HARD DRIVER. Gilpin, a hard driver and gallant fighter, won out by scores of 6-2, 4-6, 11-9, 3-6, 6-4, after exchanging baseline hot shots with the Atlanta youngster for some two hours and a half. Tilden's foremost protégé, Wilbur Coen, of Kansas City, bowed before the varied stroking of Sidney H. Wood, 18-year-old New York sensation. The scores were 6-2, 1-6, 6-1, 6-1. Coen, although

KICK FORMATION OFFENSE BUSIES BULLDOG SQUAD

Coach Mehre Drills Georgians in Ground-Gaining Plays.

By Al Smith.

ATHENS, Ga., Sept. 9.—The Georgia Bulldogs this afternoon began practicing for a great drive as head Coach Harry Mehre concentrated on offensive tactics down on old Sanford field. Besides giving his line plenty of work in charging an opposing forward wall and instructing his backfield men in the art of taking out opposing ends, Mehre held the first punt formation session, ending the afternoon's work by sending four teams through a dummy scrimmage on punts, two teams getting off kicks while the opposing pair faked attempts to stop the punts.

Mehre made another surprise move today when his squad reported for the regular morning's session. They were told that the morning workout had been called off for the time being.

Several of the players have been losing an excessive amount of weight, which is attributed by Mehre to the excessive heat and the two heavy workouts each day. The regular workouts will be resumed as soon as the weather turns cool enough.

The Bulldogs began the afternoon's work with their regular course of light calisthenics. The seven members of the booting corps were then put to work, and the remaining 43 members of the squad had to chase the pigskin down the field.

GOOD PUNTS. Johnny Davidson, Spurgeon Chandler and Willie Sullivan were getting off some more long ones this afternoon while Marion Gaston, a newcomer to the ranks of the kickers, was handling himself rather well and getting off some good ones.

The linemen had plenty of work to do in practicing offensive and defensive tactics. At first the boys were paired off to work on each other, but later the guards and tackles were paired together and the opposing guards were given the task of breaking through.

The backs put in a good half hour's work on pass offense and defense. The boys were divided into two sections, one division going down the field to get passes while the other had to do their part towards breaking up the heaves.

ENDS AND BACKS. After this part of the work was over End Oove Chick Shiver brought his ends over and the backs began running around and getting practice in taking out ends, while the ends were learning the correct way of pulling down the man with the ball.

Mehre ended the day's work when he began to get the boys used to the punt formations they will have on tap this fall.

Charlie Hardin, promising sophomore fullback, whose tonsils were the cause of his being kept out of the game, was reported resting nicely tonight at a local hospital. Hardin, who hails from Sanford, Fla., is expected to report back for practice within the next ten days.

Singer, McLarnin Wind Up Training

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(AP)—With only their fighting reputations and the size of the gate to stage, young Al Singer, lightweight champion, and Jimmy McLarnin, uncrowned king of the welterweights, polished off their preparatory chores today for a 10-round duel Thursday night in the Yankee stadium.

The confidence of the 135-pound ruler, knockout conqueror of Sammy Mandell, began to have its effect today on the betting populace. Odds on McLarnin, held steady at 2 to 1, since the match was made, slid away to 8 to 5 and 7 to 5. The prospect was that the Dublin Dynamiter would enter the ring a slight favorite with much of the "smart money" riding on Singer.

Singer's stock took a boost when it appeared that McLarnin would have only a few pounds the better of the weight instead of a decisive margin. The Jewish star, a boy of 20 and still growing, indicated today that he will weigh about 136 pounds, while McLarnin may be as low as 141. Jimmy has agreed to scale 142 or less.

McLarnin boxed three rounds in his final workout at Orangeburg, N. Y., and weighed 141 pounds. He will exercise lightly tomorrow and come into New York.

The bout will not be broadcast.

Stribling Awards Mexican Verdict

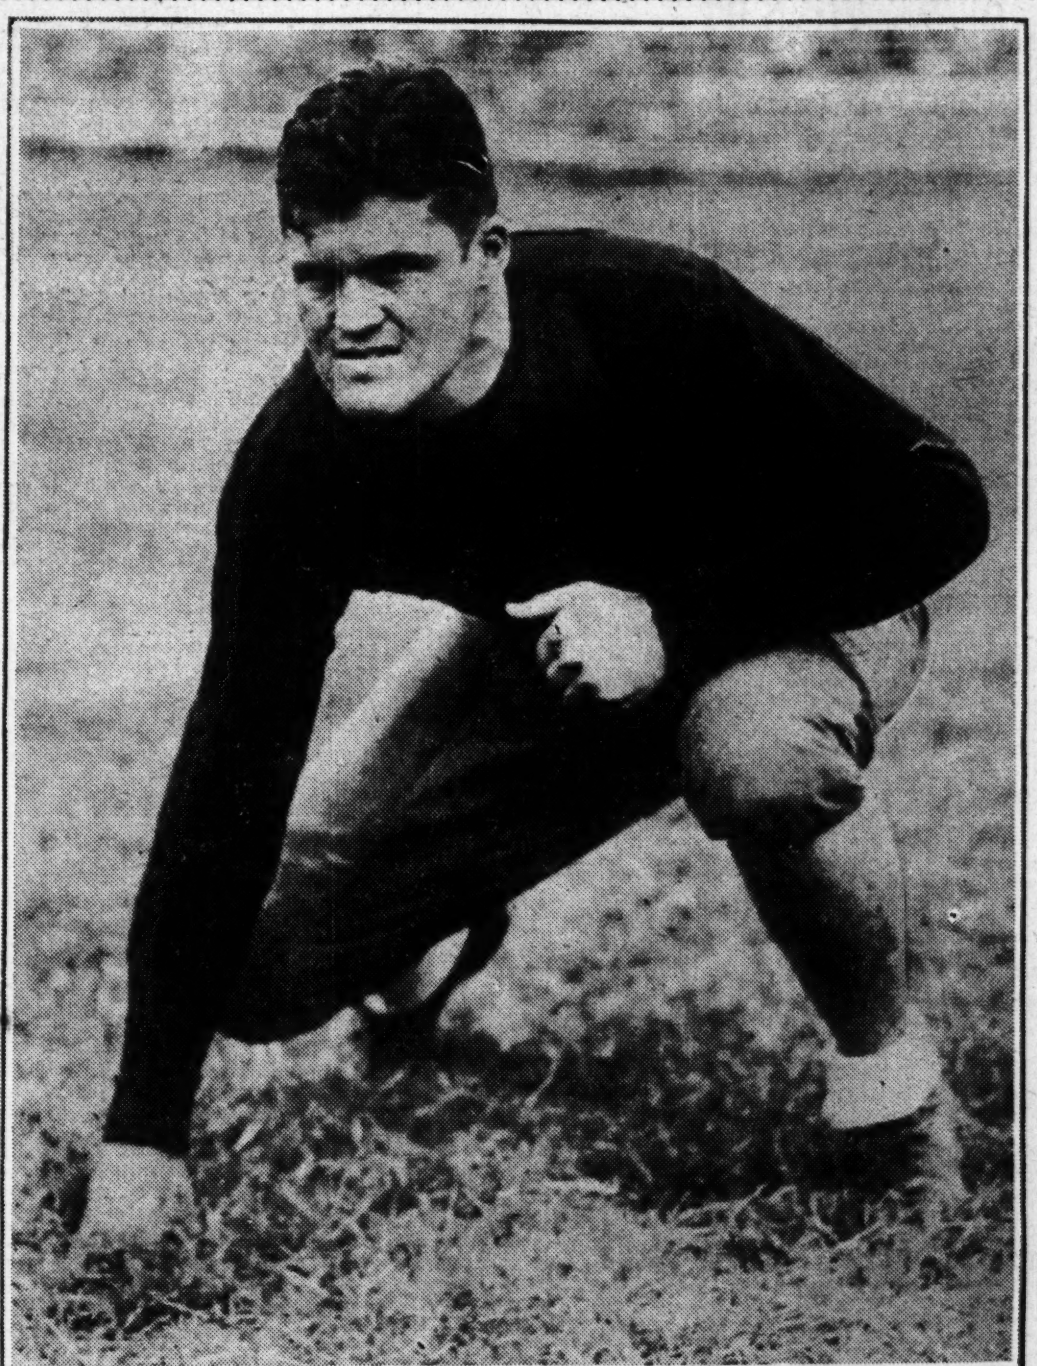

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Saturino Tiberio, 141, Spanish junior welterweight, making his American debut, was a victim of a technical knockout at the hands of Jose Estrada, 139, Mexico City, in the main event of a fight card here today.

W. L. Stribling, of Macon, Ga., acting as referee, raised Estrada's hand after the Spaniard had found the canvas three times in the seventh canto.

$10,000 Is Paid For Lee, Pel Hurler

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Manager Larry Gilbert, of the New Orleans Southern Association, has announced the sale of Pitcher "Lefty" Lee to the Cleveland Indians for $10,000. Lee will report to the Indians next year.

He Dosen't Look Easy

While Auburn isn't rated as one of the strong teams for the 1930 football season, a few more men such as Carl Schich, shown above, will make them hard to beat. Schich is a guard who expects to make things rough for the opposition this season.

CRACKERS TAKE SECOND, 2 TO 1

Club Gains as Barons Meet Reverse; Rosy Entertains Crowd.

By Ralph McGill.

That very good baseball team which Johnny Dobbs has got together despite a disastrous start, moved to within a couple of games of third place by beating the Barons Tuesday afternoon, 2 to 1, at Spiller field.

The Crackers had Jimmy Blighen out in the box and he held right on through the sunshine and rain to pull out with the victory.

Climax was weak from laughter when he entered the box. His ribs were aching from laughing at Simon Rosenthal, who had entertained the fans with a Rudy Valle number or so from the dugout.

A RUDY VALLEE. Simon Rosenthal used Fat Elrod's big megaphone. He rested it on Mule Shirley's head and from it poured the sweet strains of "It Happened in Rome." Rosenthal entertained the crowd while the rain delayed the game.

It was ladies' day and did they applaud! Rosenthal's Rudy Valle would have blushed for shame had he been there. The ladies busted no end of gloves applauding.

Between songs Simon Rosenthal poked jokes at the Barons bench. Lee Guest, with a smaller megaphone, was

SPINNERS TAKE SERIES OPENER

Chief Harmon Gives Up Two Hits as Mates Win, 3-0.

GREENVILLE, S. C., Sept. 9.—

(AP)—Chief Huey Harmon allowed Macon but two hits this afternoon and Greenville won the first game of the South Atlantic post-season series, 3 to 0.

Harmon had perfect control and kept the Peaches swinging wildly at sharp breaking curves. Harmon was given brilliant support, especially by Ellis Taylor at third and Nellie Leach at second. These two with Harmon had all assists of the game for Greenville.

George Rhinehardt hit two doubles and Leach a triple and single for four of Greenville's five hits. Jim Hudgens got the other.

The game was a pitchers' duel from first to last between Harmon and Earl Mattingly, the Peaches' hurler. While Harmon was blanking the Peaches, Greenville tallied a run off Mattingly in the first, third and sixth innings.

If so, the Americans will ride out with Eric Pedley, of California, high scorer of the first game, at No. 1; Earle A. S. Hopping, No. 2; Tommy Hitchcock, No. 3, and Winston Guest, back.

Striblings Consider Two Florida Fights

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 9.—(AP)—"Pa" Stribling, manager of W. L. Stribling, Mexican heavyweight, said tonight he is considering two proposals for fights in Florida at the height of the winter season.

One of the fights under consideration would be held at West Palm Beach, under the auspices of the American Legion, the fighter's father said. The second was broached here late today by G. R. K. Carter, Miami Beach promoter.

The elder Stribling said that Carter assured him that the city of Hialeah, Miami suburb, is eager to be selected as the site of the winter fight between Young Stribling and an opponent to be selected later.

The Striblings and Jack Bell, sports editor of the Miami Herald, came here by airplane from West Palm Beach today.

SHANNON GIVES CHICKS VERDICT AFTER 'SHOWER'

Fans Hurl Bottles, Cushions as Disputes Slow Play.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 9.—(AP)—The Memphis Chickasaws were tonight held title to the 1930 Southern Association pennant and the right to meet the champions of the Texas league in the annual title series for the Class A baseball championship of the south.

Today's game at New Orleans—forfeited to Memphis in the last half of the ninth—gave the Chicks a lead over the Pelicans which assured Memphis an advantage of at least one game when the season ends next Sunday.

As the count stood tonight Memphis had a lead of six and a half games with six games to be played by the Chicks and five by the Pelicans. The standing tonight gave Memphis 94 games won and 54 lost and New Orleans 87 won and 60 lost.

All winds for New Orleans and all losses for Memphis during the remaining games would give Memphis 94 won and 60 lost and New Orleans 82 won and 60 lost when the curtain falls Sunday.

CHICKS LEAD

Today's game was declared forfeited by Umpire Shannon after New Orleans had started the final inning at bat. At the first time the forfeit was ordered the score stood 5-to-4 in favor of Memphis, which had scored two runs in the first of the ninth to overcome a 4-to-3 lead by New Orleans.

Shannon stopped the game and declared the forfeit when fans began hurling cushions and pop bottles and one of the bottles had struck him in the head.

Prior to the bottle throwing episode, Manager Gilbert of New Orleans, had urged that the game be called but the umpire declined and Manager Prothro, of Memphis, had protested against this week's "stalling" in connection with a change of New Orleans pitchers.

FIFTH FLA.G.

The 1930 pennant will give Memphis its fifth Southern association championship since the association was organized in 1900. The last pennant won by Memphis was in 1924. The others were in 1903, 1904 and 1921.

Plans for the post-season series with the Texas champions have been held in abeyance pending the clinching of the pennant in the Southern association and the return of the Texas league season, now in a post-season series to decide whether Wichita Falls or Fort Worth, winners of split-season series, will be crowned champions.

No official announcement has been made as to when the Dixie series will start, but if the Texas league settles its argument this week it is expected that it will get under way early next week, possibly Tuesday.

By winning the 1930 pennant Memphis will meet the winner of Birmingham for third place in number of pennants won.

New Orleans holds the honors for the most wins in the Southern league, eight. Atlanta has won six. Nashville won the pennant four times and Little Rock and Mobile one each. (Box on fourth sport page.)

BRITAIN MAY SHIFT LINEUP

WESTBURY, N. Y., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Great Britain's decisive defeat in the first match of the series for the international polo cup may lead to a shift in the challengers' forces for the second, and perhaps deciding, game tomorrow.

Rumors had it that Captain Richard George would ride at No. 1 for the Britons tomorrow with Gerald Baidin returning to No. 2, Lewis Lacey to back, and Captain C. T. I. Roark retaining the No. 3 post.

The British four as it lined up on Saturday kept Baidin at No. 1, Lacey at No. 2, Roark at No. 3 and Lieutenant Humphrey Guinness at back. Under the terms of the reported shift, Guinness, an emergency appointee anyhow, would lose his place.

Captain George was the first string No. 1 for the invaders before they left England, but illness handicapped him after he reached this country and he never showed the form he had revealed in practice matches on his native turf.

As for the United States, it was considered a virtual certainty that the same lineup would be called upon for the second game that trounced the British in the opening match, 10-5. If so, the Americans will ride out with Eric Pedley, of California, high scorer of the first game, at No. 1; Earle A. S. Hopping, No. 2; Tommy Hitchcock, No. 3, and Winston Guest, back.

Freshmen Hold Oglethorpe Varsity in Scrimmage

Three Army 'Buddies' Mold Vol Machine

Neyland, Parker and Britton Join Forces To Produce Famous Tennessee Team.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 8.—Mayor Bob Neyland, head coach, first saw the light of day in Greenville, Texas, and passed successively from the Burleson (Texas) Prep school to the Texas Teachers' College and later to Texas A. & M. In each place he earned recognition for his athletic ability, but his stay with the Texas Aggies was cut short by acceptance of an appointment to the United States Military Academy at West Point.

Major W. H. Britton meanwhile was taking a prominent part in home town athletic activities at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Colonel Paul Parker was doing equally as strenuous things at his native haunt of Ocoee, Fla. They, too, were awarded appointments to the military academy, and thus came the initial meeting of the three.

Cadet Neyland first won recognition as an excellent baseball player, being a particularly outstanding pitcher. His baseball career was climaxed by hurling a total of four winning games against the Naval Academy and after graduation he turned down several big league offers. He went out for the football team during his first year and won an end berth on the varsity which he held throughout his stay at the academy with the exception of a short period in his senior year when he acted as quarterback. His play during the last year attracted all-American mention from Walter Camp.

MAKES VARSITY. Despite the handicap of being underweight, Cadet Paul Parker succeeded by his hard and steady weight and by his reputation as a fighter to the last whistle in winning a place in the Army line for two years. Cadet Britton was the all-round athlete of the trio. While at West Point he participated in four major sports during four years, winning letters in three and a monogram in basketball, a letter in that sport being awarded to teams undefeated.

Each year the academy gives a sash to the member of the graduating class who is voted the most valuable man in West Point athletics. In 1916, the committee was unable to choose between Britton, the four-letterman, and Neyland, the outstanding baseball and football star, so, for the first time in history, two sashes were awarded, one to each.

Graduation separated the trio, Neyland and Britton being commissioned in the engineering corps and Parker in the infantry. Britton was assigned to the Hawaiian islands until 1917 and while there coached the championship team of the island.

RANK REDUCED. After the war, Major Neyland and Colonel Parker were reduced by the general cuts in army ranking to that of captains. Captain Neyland was sent to Boston Tech for post-graduate engineering work then assigned to West Point as instructor and end coach. Captain Parker was detailed to the Point immediately after the war as professor of military tactics and assistant line coach. His coaching ability was such that he was advanced to assistant head coach.

In 1925 the war department transferred Major Neyland to the University of Tennessee in the R. O. T. C. and he was appointed end coach by the athletic council. Following the resignation of Coach M. B. Banks at the end of the 1925 season, Major Neyland was appointed head coach and called in his former classmates to fill vacancies in the coaching staff.

Major Britton, in addition to his job as assistant coach also is head basketball and track coach. Colonel Parker has the task of molding the stone-wall line that for three years has baffled the Volunteers' opponents.

FIVE GEORGIA RIFLEMEN WIN NATIONAL FAME

President's 100 Contains Flower of Nation's Marksmen.

CAMP PERRY, Ohio, Sept. 9.—Five riflemen from Georgia posts today are members of the President's Hundred, it was announced at headquarters of the national rifle and pistol matches, Camp Perry, Ohio.

They are Sergeant S. Bradford (143), Sergeant J. B. Ellis (141), Lieutenant W. L. McMaster (141), Lieutenant T. B. Gaibraith (139), all of Fort Benning, and Sergeant J. E. Abel (140), of Fort Oglethorpe. One hundred and fifty was the perfect score for the match.

This select group of 100 constitutes the aristocracy of the rifle. What the round table meant to Arthur's Knights, the President's Hundred means to a marksman. Sergeant R. L. Speers, United States infantry, of Fort Cook, Neb., is No. 1 of the group and receives a personal letter from the president of the United States. He scored 146 of a possible 150.

These members of the hundred are distinguished wherever they may shoot by an arm brassard. They are forever "One of the Hundred," and a place on the list is eagerly sought by America's finest rifles. There were 1,655 contenders for the honor this year.

Service and civilian, high and low, young and old, compete in the president's match, which is open to any citizen of the United States. A blond youngster named Adams—H. J. Adams, 18, of Fosteria, Ohio—was barely topped by the No. 1, and finished third. He was the high civilian, winning the Clarke Memorial trophy.

The service marksmen usually win first place, a civilian having won only once in the history of the matches.

World Series Opens In A's Park October 1

Earliest Opening Date in History Finds Macks at Home for First Two Games.

By Dixon Stewart, United News Staff Correspondent. CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—(UN)—Barring unforeseen developments, such as a complete form reversal by the Philadelphia Athletics, or failure of the National league to decide its turbulent pennant race on schedule time, the opening game of the 1930 world series will be played Wednesday, October 1, at Shibe Park, Philadelphia.

Representatives of contending clubs and the presidents of the rival leagues met today with Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis and made all necessary arrangements for the series except that of naming the contestants.

Indians Purchase Sacramento Hurler

CLEVELAND, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Purchase by the Cleveland Indians of Fay Thomas, right-handed pitcher, for the equivalent of $25,000, from the Sacramento club of the Pacific Coast league, was announced by the Cleveland management today.

The first two games of the series will be played in the home park of the American league winner, October 1 and 2—the earliest opening date in history. The third and fourth games will be played in the home park of the National league champions, with the sixth and seventh games, if necessary, in the American league city.

Dates of the three games in the National league city will not be determined until the race is decided. If either Chicago or St. Louis win, one day for traveling will be allowed between the second and third and fifth and sixth games. If Boston or New York win, the series will be played on consecutive dates.

In event any game is postponed because of rain it will be played the following day in the same city. If a legally tied game is played it will be replayed after game No. 7, if necessary, at the park where it was originally scheduled.

Umpires will be named after the close of the regular season. President John Heydler of the National league and President E. W. Barnard of the American league each appointing two men.

Judge Landis authorized all clubs still floundering in the race to accept ticket reservations on Monday, September 15. All reservations will be by mail and must be made in three-game lots. Prices for single games will be the same as last year—$6.00 for box seats; $5.50 for grandstand reservations; $4.00 for general admission; and $1 for bleachers. All games will be started at 1:30 p. m. standard time.

Although the Washington Senators still have a mathematical chance to take American league honors, the Senators are so far behind that they have conceded the championship to Philadelphia and the Athletics were the only American league club represented at the meeting.

The National league situation is more complicated, with four clubs—Chicago, St. Louis, Brooklyn and New York—bunched within four games of the lead.

The Giants were the only club which considered it a waste of effort to send a representative to the meeting, notifying Judge Landis that if they did do the unexpected and win the pennant, they would accept any plans made by the other clubs.

berating the Barons from the stands and they had a very miserable afternoon all in all.

Old Climaxer Blethen was shaking like one of those aspen leaves used to read about. And when, in the third inning, with Guy Sturdy at bat, it was suddenly discovered that the Crackers had only eight men in the field and that Simon Rosenthal was the absent man, well, it was almost too much. Old Climaxer just shook and shook. Had he been as fat as Mr. Guy Butler or Mr. Bell J. Spiller and not as thin as a shad, he would have shaken like a bowl of jelly.

It was a great ball game that was played, once the clowning was done. It started inauspiciously but once it got under way it was what the boys at the cross roads call a hummer.

Filing Blue, relation to Felling Blue, was on the rubber for the Barons and he buzzed right along, matching curves with Climaxer Blethen, until the sixth.

The Crackers beat the Barons on Monday by tallying two in the sixth and they found their batting eyes again Tuesday.

Blethen worked Plue for a base on balls. Sam Langford, who is hitting like a fiend in human form these closing weeks, tripled to count Blethen. Sheehan brought Langford in with a sacrifice fly. That was all. 'Twas enough.

The Barons opened with a single by Guy Sturdy and Bill Black doubled to score him. A sacrifice fly and a base on balls put things in a very precarious situation, indeed, but Blethen lightened up the nauts, shifted his chew and bore down. Pickering rolled out to Blethen and Moore fouled out to Ernie Kreuger.

The game was the final appearance of the Barons here this season. Nashville comes in today and will remain for the remainder of the week.

PETREL COACH SHIFTS BACKS IN TEST DRILL

Powerful Yearlings Stop Thrusts of Black and Gold Eleven.

By Jack Troy.

Freshmen football players at Oglethorpe are proving real stumbling blocks to the progress of the varsity eleven.

He is all aroused because the varsity is supposed to be going places but he is tickled pink because the freshmen will be varsity men next year.

ENDS FIGHT. Tom Johnson, the 210 pounder from Savannah, and Bo Johnson, from Decatur, were the ends who stopped the varsity attack Tuesday afternoon in the scrimmage. Johnson is a much smaller player than Johansen but he was in there just the same.

Pounding Pickard and Rudy Shouse, tackle and center, respectively, also got their share of tackles.

Coach Robertson conducted the scrimmage along experimental lines, working two backfields alternately. Walker, Putno and Baker looked good in the second-string backfield while Captains Herrin, Frank Anderson, Lefty Syper and Dapper Myers worked well for the varsity.

LINE POWER.

The varsity line was driven hard by Coach Robertson and they stopped most of the bucks which the freshmen backs tried.

Daily scrimmages are on the card for the freshmen and the varsity. The freshmen squad is going to be cut later on this week and the battle for positions is a spirited one.

The Georgia game is on ahead and the boys want to repeat their victory of 1929.

New Frosh Coaches Expect Good Squad

DURHAM, N. C., Sept. 9.—Herschall Caldwell and "Dumpy" Hagler, Duke freshmen coaches, are expecting to open practice with the first year griders on September 17. A large practice field has been set aside for the youngsters, goal posts have been erected for them, and tackling dummies and other equipment is being placed.

Caldwell and Hagler will tutor the Blue Imps in Wallace Wade's system of play. They are well-known men who played under the Alabama coach who next season will come to Duke.

The frosh mentors say they expect a representative bunch of youngsters to answer the call.

INSTALLMENT XXIX.

"I wore out a crop on him." "Horsewhipped him? . . . When? Where?"

"Just now. In the tea garden. In front of everybody. I'd have killed him if I could!" The cry issued weakly from Wagner's lips, he seized his head, he stared wildly at his daughter.

Now that Alanna had found her voice words rushed from her, she stormed about the room in a gusty passion. But the tornado blew itself out as rapidly as it had blown up, she faltered, hesitated, her voice arose and her bosom heaved. Without warning she burst into tears.

Wagner approached and shook a clenched fist over her.

"Yell! Raise the hotel and have us thrown out!" he shouted. "That's your mother all over again. She always fixed it so we could never stop anything, do you? You couldn't act like a lady; you couldn't let the matter drop; you couldn't take that rotter off alone somewhere and beat him up. You had to do it in Tiffany's window."

"He—she—kissed me!" "So you boasted. Why didn't you guard it as a family secret? Now it will be in the papers, of course. Oh, you're as private as an eclipse. Engaged to a Chinaman! We'll never live that down."

Alanna wailed, a paroxysm of such violence seized her that she slid ungracefully off the lounge. She made no effort to rise; she merely sat on the floor and rocked herself in misery.

"I love him," she moaned.

"Humph! That's likely," her father sneered. "Love a Chinaman!" "I do. I don't care what he is. I love him."

"Then take it out in loving," Wagner spoke through clenched teeth. "We're going to let her have as soon as it gets dark enough to escape. . . . I can see the headlines tomorrow morning."

The telephone rang with the startling suddenness of a machine gun burst and he snatched it up.

"Hello! . . . Wagner speaking. . . . Who? . . . Tell him to go to hell! He crashed the instrument down upon its stand. "There you are, Typhoid Mary! A gentleman of the press! Lord! You're the image of hard luck for me. Call your maid and get your things together before they break in on us."

"I'm not going," Alanna declared. With an effort she brought the sweat. Al Wagner calmed himself sufficiently to argue: when this failed he fumed, then he raged and at last he threatened. Alanna was granite. To run away would be a confession of guilt, and admission of shame. And what had she to be ashamed of? Nothing. If anybody dared to throw it up to her, get smart, she'd give them a taste of it. Well, she had other crops and she could use them. What did she care for a little gossip? Not—that! There was a mighty little that she cared for now, her heart was in pieces. Leave Paradi! Rather not. They would say no more about it—not another word.

During the time it took her to voice her contention and her promises of reform, the telephone rang three times. They let it ring.

In despair at last Wagner stamped off to his own suite and locked himself in. Later he ordered his dinner sent up and ate it in the solitude of his chamber. He wondered apprehensively if he would have to live in this wretched room, penned up like a wolf.

until he grew a beard long enough to serve as a disguise.

Cyril Bathurst returned home late that night. He had attended a party where he had been forced to listen to various accounts of the occurrence at the tea dance and to comments upon racial questions which did not agree well with him, hence he was not in an agreeable mood.

He was astonished to find Alanna Wagner waiting for him.

"Where is Mr. Lee?" she inquired, without preamble.

"On his way to Paris. He sails tomorrow for America."

"Why did he go?"

"Probably. I would, if I were in his shoes."

"The idea of his making love to me! Kissing me! Why, we spent half of last night under the cypresses. Can you bear it? . . . Did you know he's an Oriental?"

"I did."

"I could kill him! It's outrageous!" the girl cried stormily.

"Right! Filthiest trick I ever heard of. So unfair."

"Yes. Unfair."

"Go should be thrashed within an inch of your life."

"I?" Alanna started.

"Certainly! Surely you don't hold him to blame? That Mongolian tiger didn't drag you out of the casino and into that thick, did he? I fancy not. . . . I'd like awfully to give you a piece of my mind, Miss Wagner, but I can't very well do so under my own roof."

"Please do. I came uninvited."

"Thanks awfully. I will. You're vulgar and ill-bred and cruel. I'll wager you were one of those nasty little brats who pull kittens' legs just to hear them squeal. You think it's clever to disregard everything conventional and to outrage all the deities. You're utterly indifferent to other people's feelings. Really, I'm sorry your father isn't present but you may repeat what I say and he can find me any time."

"Go ahead," the girl urged defiantly.

"Right! It's a pleasure I can't deny myself. We Europeans often spoil our women after they grow up but Americans seem to ruin them at the breast and you're a typical example. Look around you here in Paradi! Vain, overdone, impudent, empty-headed women, as loud and caudal and wasteful as macaws. It's the same all over Europe. . . . Imagine a girl of your age coming to a man's house, alone, at this ungodly hour, and confessing—boasting—that she spent half the night in a young fellow's arms. Thoroughly smart and up-to-date, no doubt, but it jolly well shocks me. I wish you were my daughter, for half an hour. I'd teach you what a crop feels like. Sam Lee is a fine, clean, upstanding boy, and far too good for you. He held you at arm's length as long as he could and that drove you frantic. Oh, I saw the way you went at him! Disgraceful! Now you 'hate him'; you 'could kill him'; 'Well, you did something a damned sight more cruel than that.'"

"Yes?"

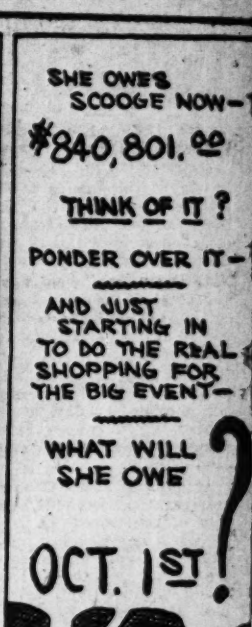

"You humiliated a proud, sensitive."

"What about my pride?"

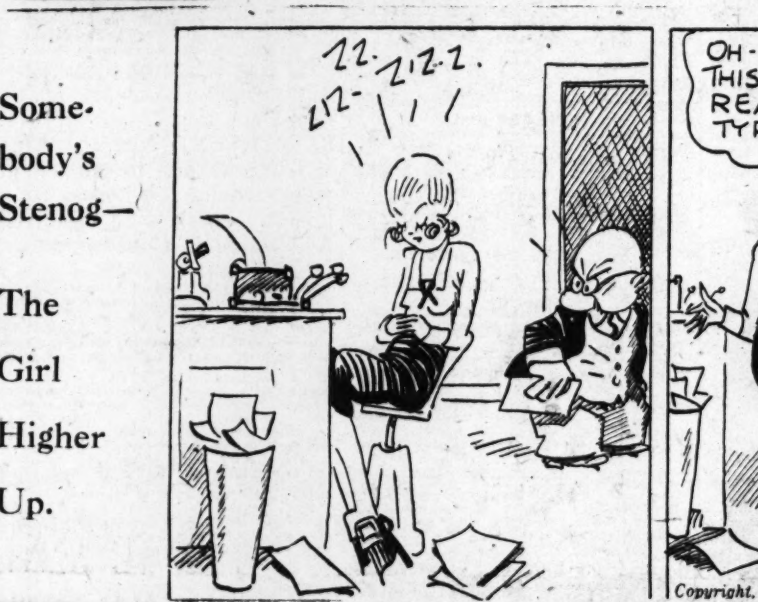

"Sam is a gentleman of breeding. His pride is stiffer, keener and higher tempered than yours, or mine, for he has something to be proud of. I have little and you have nothing—except your good looks. You see I don't lend the knee to your father's money."

GASOLINE ALLEY—AND IN THE MEANTIME

New Refrigerator Appliance Will Detect Ancient Beef

GAS ALSO EXPECTED TO PRESERVE FOOD

BY HOWARD BLAKESLEE, Associated Press Science Editor.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 9.—(AP)—A box of the future which will show up old beef that has been mislabeled as "fresh meat" was described in a report to the American Chemical Society today.

If the "fresh" beef has been stored a long time, it comes out of the refrigerator with its color changed from red to brown. Really fresh beef remains red.

This new refrigerator is an atmosphere sealed by the refrigerator, solid carbon dioxide, or dry ice. It was presented as a preservative promising some definite improvements in the food supply.

It is not a substitute for present refrigeration methods, said the author of the report, D. H. Killefer, of the Dry Ice Corporation, New York, but something which can further increase the length of time that fresh products will retain their original freshness and healthful properties.

Expense at present prevents its use in homes, he said, but in quantity distribution it is doing things which two years ago even scientists considered an impossible dream.

Solid carbon dioxide is snow-white. Its temperature 109 degrees below zero Fahrenheit. It does not melt, but evaporates, filling a closed refrigerator with an increasingly strong carbon dioxide atmosphere.

"This gas," said Mr. Killefer, "prevents growth of many common bacteria on meat, fish, and other fresh foods. It appears that the carbon dioxide is absorbed by the surface of the flesh, creating an acid

TARZAN AND THE LOST EMPIRE No. 51

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

An instant later, Tarzan cast the lifeless form aside, picked up the sword and shield that he had been forced to abandon, and sought for new foes. Thus the battle raged around the arena, each side seeking to gain the advantage in numbers so they might set upon the remnant of their opponents and destroy them.

Cassius Hesta had disposed of the gladiator whom he had drawn away from Tarzan. But now two swordsmen were upon him, and he was fighting for his life against unequal odds. He saw an opening and his sword found the throat of one of his opponents, but his guard was down for an instant and a glancing blow struck his helmet.

Hesta stumbled and fell to the sand half-stunned. "Habet! Habet!" roared the crowd. Standing over him, his antagonist raised his forefinger to the audience and every thumb went down. With a smile, the victor raised his sword to drive it through Hesta's throat, but he paused an instant in a little play to the galleries.

In an instant Tarzan leaped across the soft sand, casting aside his sword and shield, reverting to the primitive... the beast... to save his friend. It was like the charge of a lion. The crowd saw and was frozen to silence. They watched him spring in his stride several yards before he reached the gladiator and fall upon him like a panther.

Louisiana Officers Seize Rum Bonanza

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Prohibition agents late today seized a large consignment of champagne and other bonded liquor valued at $50,000 in a vacant house six miles from Metairie, in Jefferson parish.

Importance to be made by federal agents near New Orleans in the past week, and served to convince the government forces that rum-runners were apparently redoubting their efforts to smuggle liquor into the city.

Atlanta-Macon Natural Gas Line Is Ready for Service

Other Middle Georgia Cities and Towns To Be Served by Extensions as Contracts Are Completed.

The natural gas transmission line of the Southern Natural Gas Corporation from Atlanta to Macon, serving directly Griffin and Macon, has been completed and gas turned into the line, it was announced today by the Natural Gas Engineering Corporation, builders of the line.

Extensions from the new line will be constructed to serve several other cities in this section, including Thomaston, Milledgeville, Forsyth and other smaller localities.

The line serving Macon is 105 miles in length. From Atlanta to Griffin the line is 12 inches in diameter and south through Macon to a point 15 miles east of Macon a 10-inch line has been laid. From the end of the 10-inch line the line is 8.5 inches in diameter to Milledgeville.

Extensions from this line include a 6-inch branch from the end of the 10-inch line to McIntyre and a 4-inch line to Dry Branch. A 4-inch line also served Forsyth and a 6-inch line will serve Griffin.

The company also announces that not only will gas be made available from this line to a large number of prosperous Georgia cities, but contracts have been secured by the corporation and its associated companies to supply many important industrial companies with natural gas, the contracted daily volume being large.

The transmission line of Southern Natural Gas Corporation, reaching from Yazoo City, Miss., 202 miles to Mobile, Ala., has been completed, and natural gas is at the Mobile city limit, available for use in that city by the Mobile Gas Company.

It is the intention of Southern Natural Gas Corporation to extend this line from Mobile to Pensacola, Fla., immediately, which will give a lateral total mileage of approximately 300 miles.

From under construction to Laurel, Hattiesburg, Biloxi, Gulfport and Pascagoula, Miss., with one line entering the state of Louisiana to supply Bogalusa. It is the intention, also, of Southern Natural Gas Corporation to make further extensions from this line, reaching cities and towns in close proximity to the main project.

With the tie-up of the Pensacola line to the Mobile division, the Southern Natural Gas Corporation will have built in the southeast since commencing the project in June, 1925, approximately 1,800 miles of main transmission lines and laterals. It is expected that the Pensacola extension will be completed December 1.

Eight Persons Hurt In Six Auto Crashes

Five persons were injured in three automobile accidents in and near Atlanta Tuesday, resulting in one arrest; that of Mrs. Melie Lennick, 1048 Decker avenue, whose automobile crashed into a parked machine, police charged, belonging to J. J. Blackstock, 560 State street, where the collision occurred.

Mrs. Lennick, who was shaken up but not injured, was released after posting bond. A passenger in her car, Mrs. C. H. Hines, 1381 Sylvan road, and Mrs. Blackstock, who sat in her husband's parked car in front of their home, were slightly injured.

M. F. and E. D. George, brothers, were slightly injured when their car was driven into a tree in front of East Lake golf course in an effort to avoid striking a car that is said to have been driven abruptly into their path. They were treated at Grady hospital and later returned to their home at 435 Rogers street.

In trying to avert striking a pedestrian at Piedmont and Auburn avenues Tuesday morning, Mrs. C. H. Hines, 625 Rockwood road, crashed her car into a white truck, causing severe injuries to her 12-year-old niece, Mildred Rambo.

S. H. Morrison, stopped his car at a road address, was seriously injured when he was home Tuesday when the truck he was driving overturned, pinning him beneath it. Freed by passers-by, Morrison was rushed to Grady hospital in a Harry G. Poole ambulance. A youth who was riding with Morrison escaped injury by jumping.

With two broken ribs and painful lacerations, Johnny Farrell, 18, was taken to Grady hospital Tuesday after having been knocked from his motorcycle by a car at 1570 South Gordon street, according to his statement.

Ona Lee Camp, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Camp, of 216 Glenn street, was taken to Grady hospital Tuesday with his left leg fractured and severe head injury when he ran into the path of an automobile driven by J. R. Elliott, of Stockbridge, Ga., according to police report.

Mr. Elliott stopped his car at once and summoned an ambulance for the injured child.

CAPT. J. O. DONALDSON TO BE BURIED TODAY

Legionnaires Will Form Escort at Funeral of American Ace.

The funeral of Captain John O. Donaldson, fourth ranking American ace of the World War, whose funeral Sunday in an airplane crash at Philadelphia, will be conducted at 11 o'clock this morning at Spring Hill chapel, 1040 Spring Hill road, N. E.

The following will serve as pallbearers: Thomas Furman, Romaine Barnes, Dana Belser, Carl Ramspeck, Norris Broyles, Max Wright, Ernest W. Cullough, George H. Langston, Quinn and Edward O. Miles.

An honorary escort from Atlanta Post No. 1 of the American Legion will be composed of the following members: M. M. O'Sullivan, Albert C. Kelley, George P. Perry, Fred A. Scheer, James A. Peterson, R. Frank Callaway, Trammell Scott and Arthur J. Manning.

Captain Donaldson's widow, the former Miss Harriet McCullough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. McCullough, Jr., of 102 W. Wesley road, and his mother arrived here Monday night. His father, General T. Q. Donaldson, and a brother, Captain J. O. Donaldson, Jr., noted army polo player, arrived Tuesday night.

Captain Donaldson, whose marriage to Miss McCullough shortly after the war, was a member of a friendship formed while he was serving as a Red Cross worker in France, had eight German planes to his credit and had been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross by the United States.

He was the founder of the Newark (N. J.) air school and was the head of both at the time of his death.

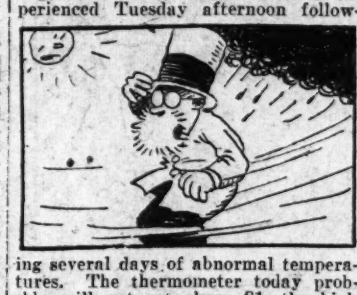

The body, which arrives at 7 o'clock this morning, was escorted to the station in Philadelphia by a guard of honor composed of the George H. Imhof Post of the American Legion. As the train pulled out, planes piloted by the American Legion were in the air.

Moorestown, N. J., accompanied it for a short distance, dropping wreaths of flowers and poppies.

He was survived by his widow; his parents, Major General and Mrs. T. Q. Donaldson; a sister, Mrs. C. B. Rucker, of Fort Benning, Ga., and two brothers, Captain T. Q. Donaldson, Jr., of Fort Riley, Kan., and Hoke Donaldson, now residing in South America.

Election Day Ballot Bears Rain Promise

More showers today—election time in Georgia is slated to follow the slight drizzling which Atlanta experienced Tuesday afternoon following several days of abnormal temperatures. The thermometer today probably will not get above 81, the high mark of Tuesday, but may jump after the showers and approach 90 Thursday. Low temperature for Tuesday was 72.

IRIGROYEN IS EXILED BY TRIUMPHANT FOES

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Advice received tonight said that former President Hipolito Irigoyen, of the Argentine Republic, was removed from barracks at La Plata, where he has been prisoner, to the Argentine warship Belgrano. It was understood also that other Irigoyenist leaders, including a majority of the deputies of the former president's party, were taken on board with him.

The aged ex-president and his companions were taken to the warship under heavy guard.

Buenos Aires was quiet tonight after the gunfire of last evening, with most of the shops and business houses open, but heavy guards were posted and a rigorous censorship was in effect.

Because of the disorders centering around the Buenos Aires postoffice last night, no mail was received here from the Argentine capital today.

Lefor Del Valle, a former Irigoyenist senator, managed to escape from Argentina during the recent troubles and arrived here this afternoon.

Former Foreign Minister Oyanarte also fled the country and is expected in Montevideo tomorrow.

PUBLIC EXECUTIONS DENIED BY JUNTA.

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 9.—(AP)—General Justo, newly-appointed commander of the national military forces, late tonight denied rumors current earlier in the evening that two alleged leaders of last night's disturbances had been publicly executed in the Plaza de Mayo.

Strict martial law was put into effect, with soldiers in war equipment everywhere and particularly around the postoffice, where the disturbances took place.

Press correspondents were warned, under penalty of summary expulsion, not to send any messages out of the country without the approval of the government's censor. This applies alike to cable, wireless, telephone and telegraph transmission.

It was understood that a number of Irigoyenists are under arrest, including six deputies. Fifteen alleged enemies of the revolution were seized last night and condemned to be shot, but it is not known whether the sentence has been carried out.

Among those under arrest is the former president, Hipolito Irigoyen, who has been in the infantry barracks at La Plata since he was ousted Saturday. After he resigned, the government informed him that he was free, but he was arrested after the outbreak. His personal physician, Dr. Meade, also is held.

The newspaper La Nacion said tonight that the former president would be brought to Buenos Aires as soon as his health permitted. His condition today was reported weaker.

CUBAN GOVERNMENT DENIES DISTURBANCES.

HAVANA, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The government today denied that martial law had been declared in portions of Oriente province as precautions against anticipated political disturbances.

Reports here yesterday said Palma Soriano was under martial law and that extra troops had been quartered in the barracks there. General Alvario Herrera, army chief of staff, explained that a platoon of guards had been sent there because of reports

Six Under Indictment In Alabama Vote Case

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Six persons in Marion county tonight on indictments returned by the Marion county grand jury following an investigation into charges of irregularities in the democratic primary August 12.

Robert Shelton, Ed Wright, Frank Fowkes, Sam True, Ed Styles and J. W. Atchley were arrested today and placed under bond of $500 each. Seven indictments were returned against Shelton and Fowkes and one each against the other four.

Shelton surrendered to the officers and was released immediately under bond. It was indicated other arrests would be forthcoming in connection with the irregularity charges.

The arrests are the first growing out of charges of irregularities in a dozen counties in the state. Charges have been filed in Houston, Mobile, Choctaw, Marion, DeKalb, Walker, Lee and Chambers counties.

Grand jury investigations started yesterday in Marion county, while no true bills were found by the Chambers county grand jury, which adjourned last week. The Madison grand jury also returned indictments against former officials of the defunct Citizens Life Insurance Company. The warrants for the arrests were forwarded to the cities where they were last reported for service.

Gen. Fries Scores Soviet Principles

HARRISONBURG, Va., Sept. 9.—(AP)—General Amos A. Fries, retired chief of the chemical warfare service of the United States army, accused the Soviets of being "racist, religious and section" in an address today before the Virginia department convention of the American Legion.

General Fries expressed the opinion that Russian products should be rejected by the United States because they are made by "forced labor" and for that reason are barred by the United States traffic code.

The former military leader regretted that the legion as a national organization failed to offer an expression on the recent laval limitations conference.

Friends of General William Mitchell, former assistant chief of the air corps, will offer his name tomorrow for commander of the legion department. General Mitchell has adopted Virginia as his home.

Independent Wet Quits Illinois Race

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Abe Lincoln Wisler announced today he had withdrawn from the Illinois race for United States senator, having decided to field five candidates in the November 5 election. Wisler entered as an independent wet after losing in the republican primary.

Heflin Forces Center On Banned Democrats

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Meeting in executive session here today, the executive committee of the independent ticket headed by Senator J. Thomas Heflin, voted to bar candidates on the independent ticket all persons who had not been barred from participation in democratic primaries, state or county.

Senator Heflin together with Hugh A. Locke, independent candidate for governor, and Dempsey Howell, independent candidate for lieutenant governor, were barred from participation in the democratic primary under a ruling by the state democratic executive committee which barred as candidates those persons who failed to support the party's presidential nominees in 1928.

The meeting today was called to determine whether the independent ticket put out a state ticket but the matter was passed indefinitely as "unfinished business."

Florida Will Keep State Free of Ticks

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Moving to protect the fever-tick-free area of Florida, the state live stock sanitary board, in session here today, ordered the state quarantined against Baldwin county, Alabama.

The placing of the quarantine followed reports by board officials that a reinfestation of the tick had occurred in Baldwin county.

Immediately following the passage of the regulation, Dr. J. V. Knapp, state veterinarian, ordered the boundaries of Baldwin county closely guarded so that nothing crosses the Perdido river without inspection. Dr. Knapp also ordered all cattle in Baldwin county inspected by tick eradication authorities as a precautionary move to give Florida cattleman protection against possible reinfestation.

The quarantine is a state proposition, Dr. T. W. Cole, inspector in charge of the co-operative tick eradication work in Florida for the United States department of agriculture, explained. He said officials of the federal department are in the field aiding Alabama authorities to curb the reinfestation of ticks from live stock in this state.
